Big Guns Hit Reds On Front

Biggest Weapons Used by Allies In Korea Fired On Central Area

SEOUL (AP) — The biggest guns in the U.N.'s Korean arsenal hammered Red positions on the Central Front today and jubilant artillerymen claimed they were winning the bloody battle of the hills.

Allied officers said about half of the 200 Chinese field pieces around Triangle Hill and Sniper Ridge have been destroyed or damaged. The Kumhwa valley shuddered under the impact of the all-out Allied barrage.

As the big guns roared, the first snowfall of the winter sifted down from leaden skies. Infantrymen of both sides huddled in bunkers and foxholes, leaving them only for scattered patrol clashes across the dismal 155-mile front.

Feeble Attacks by Reds
Chinese Reds threw two feeble attacks at Sniper Ridge in the pre-dawn darkness. Allied artillery and mortar fire chopped them to bits. The U.N. high command turned over the Central Front battle to the artillerymen Wednesday night.

AP Correspondent John Randolph at the front said Allied artillerymen figure it will take them about 10 days to destroy the Red guns "if they stay there and shoot it out with us."

The continual barrage already was showing its effect. Tuesday about 2300 rounds of Chinese fire hit the Allied lines. Wednesday only 11,000 rounds were counted. Thursday it dropped to 4,000. Friday was quieter still.

Red Artillery Hidden
Randolph said the big guns can't do the job alone. Some Chinese field pieces are protected by log and earth parapets up to 23 feet thick. Others are hidden in tunnels and caves.

The artillery hopes to get most of them. Air Force attacks with searing napalm and big bombs may take care of the rest.

The U. S. Eighth Army said the Reds launched several "hit and run" attacks along the front Friday. It said they probably were harassing attacks only, with no intent to capture Allied ground.

All were beaten back. The season's first snow brought a bitter taste of the miserable months ahead.

Last night B26 Invader bombers ranged over Red lines in their continuing attacks on Communist transport. Pilots reported 120 Red trucks destroyed.

Switchman Wins Race With Engine To Save Girl's Life

EL DORADO, Kas. (AP) — A Santa Fe switchman won a race with a switch engine yesterday and saved the life of 18-month old Kathleen Ross.

The little girl had wandered onto the track and had fallen in the path of the engine. Ernest L. Wall El Dorado, switchman on the train, spotted the child and climbed from the cabin to the footboard. As the train neared the child, Wall jumped from the engine, raced to the girl's side and scooped her up in his arms.

Witnesses said the engine proceeded two lengths beyond the spot before it was able to stop.

Ike Carries Missouri By Margin of 23,772

ST. LOUIS (AP) — President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower carried Missouri by a margin of 23,772 votes with only 14 precincts not reported.

Final tabulation, by the Associated Press showed out of 4,757 of the 4,771 precincts in the state Eisenhower had 914,972 and Stevenson 891,200.

The absentee ballots were being counted by county officials today. The absentee ballots in Missouri generally follow the trend in the state. The secretary of state's office estimated about 35,000 absentee votes were cast.

Water Birds, Animals

During all this dry weather we may have forgotten our feathered and furred friends. How about putting out a pan of water for the dogs and squirrels and, up higher, one for the birds?

The weatherman adds, in case you are interested, this terse sentence: "No precipitation indicated."

FROSTY IN MORNING

Fair through Saturday, warmer tonight and Saturday. Low tonight in upper 30s. High Saturday from 65 to 70.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks: 2.4, no change.

Thought for Today

Look unto Abraham your father, and unto Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.—Isaiah 51:2.

US May Have Exploded World's First H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may have exploded the world's first full-scale hydrogen bomb—and be keeping it secret.

This year's nuclear weapons tests at Eniwetok, announced for the "autumn months," are either completed or nearing an end. They generally were expected to include use of a standard atomic bomb to touch off enough hydrogen to produce a super-sized blast.

The Atomic Energy Commission has made no announcements of results such as followed the previous mid-Pacific experiments beginning in 1948.

All of these have been closed to the press and public, but restrictions were unusually tight this year. The AEC said they were to be "conducted under full security provisions" of the Atomic Energy Act. One source said there was no certainty there would be any announcement this time.

The government has announced that the spring, 1951, series included tests "contributing to the thermonuclear weapons research," a reference to the intense heat of a hydrogen explosion. Presumably, a smaller experimental amount of hydrogen was used then.

A full-scale test of an H-bomb might be the reason for the high degree of security imposed on the latest series.

Ike Too Friendly For Own Good, Says Bodyguard

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago policeman who served as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's personal bodyguard for the last three months, says the President-elect some times was "too friendly" for his own safety.

Police Detective Louis E. Swee, who returned home yesterday, traveled 51,000 miles on the campaign with the Republican presidential nominee.

"Everybody loved him," Swee told reporters. "It was a hard job keeping friendly people from trampling him. I had help from policemen in each city he visited, but when crowds began to overwhelm us, Gen. Eisenhower would never allow us to push them back. He wanted to shake hands with everybody."

Swee, 41, a policeman for 17 years and a former school teacher, was selected to guard Eisenhower after the Republican convention last July. He had been detailed to the general during the convention and Eisenhower asked Police Commissioner Tim O'Connor to allow Swee to accompany him after he won the nomination.

Dry So Long, Rain Is Unknown to Boy, And Mother, Too

DALLAS (AP) — Drought-scarred Texas chuckled today over this yarn in the "Big B" from-page column in the Dallas Morning News by Paul Crume:

"The long drought is doing something. Mrs. Loyd M. Richey was awakened at 4 a.m. Wednesday by calls from her 11-year-old son, Loyd. She heard him mumble something about his window. Mrs. Richey roused her husband and sent him to check up.

"Water is running outside my window," complained Loyd Jr. sleepily.

"Oh, I've just lighted the bathroom heater. That's what you hear," replied the father and went back to bed.

"Roused a little later by calls of 'Mama, mama,' Mrs. Richey went to the boy's bedroom. She came running excitedly back to her husband.

"There is water running outside his window," she exclaimed.

"Mr. Richey investigated and came back complaining.

"I'd have expected it of Loyd," he said, "but you're old enough that you ought to remember rain."

Mayor Cuts Ribbon to Open New, Enlarged Kresge Store

The doors of the new Kresge store opened Friday morning at 9 o'clock with many people, men, women and children, waiting to get in. Once in, the youngsters were having a field day trying to reach the strings of the bright colored balloons that made the ceiling almost a mass of green and yellow and blue.

Little boys were grabbing the balloons by the handfull and one clerk shook her head at a youngster who had three—he let them all go and another girl came by and pulled one down for him. After all, she didn't want him to leave the store without a balloon. In one other place in the store where a couple of youngsters with about six apiece, still grabbing for more, "I want a green one this time," said one.

The ribbon on the opening of the new store was cut by Mayor Herb Studer as he stood beside M. L. Kresge, head of the Chicago district of Kresge Co., and a nephew of Sebastian S. Kresge, who came to Sedalia in 1915, to lease the building for the first Kresge store here.

Also here for the opening were Olen Leonard, Chicago, display man for the company, and a former Sedalia, Chicago, display man, William Knowland of California, Homer Capehart of Indiana, Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa and Everett Dirksen of Illinois were projected by speculation into the scramble.

Although Saltonstall was the only early and enthusiastic Eisenhower backer in this group, it seemed likely that Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio—still commander of the Republican policy makers—would have a great deal to say about the choice of the floor manager.

Taft also indicated in Cincinnati he may take a seat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in preparation for active participation in foreign policy decisions.

Taft Sure of Big Job
The Ohio senator lost the nomination to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, but his campaign support of the GOP nominee assures him a major voice in Senate affairs.

Capehart and Dirksen were original Taft supporters. Hickenlooper and Ferguson were neutrals until after the nominating convention. Knowland supported Gov. Earl Warren of California but worked for Eisenhower after the nomination.

Sen. Richard Nixon, who said yesterday he will resign before the new Congress meets to give an appointee of Warren a break on seniority, hinted that Eisenhower will interest himself personally in selection of the floor leader. Nixon will take over as vice president Jan. 20.

Nixon's hint was interpreted as a sign that Eisenhower might back Knowland.

No Foe For Martin
There were no advance indications of a struggle for possible among House Republicans. Rep. Joseph Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, is not likely to be opposed for speaker of the House, a post he held during the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

The $30,000 a year job puts the speaker second in line of presidential succession, right behind the vice president.

Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, floor leader when Republicans last were in power in 1947-48, is expected to take the job again in the 83rd Congress.

In most cases, the men to whom chairmanship of the key House committees will fall have been outspoken critics of the Truman administration. And the men who will head the key financial committees all have backed legislation to reduce taxes, restrict controls and cut spending.

Tabor Heads Appropriations
Rep. John Tabor of New York will take over as chairman of the powerful appropriations committee. Rep. Jesse Wolcott of Michigan of the Banking Committee and Rep. Dan Reed of New York of the Ways and Means Committee.

In foreign affairs, the committee chairmen will be men who are strong critics of all-out foreign spending and of the draft.

Rep. Robert Chipfield of Illinois, who'll head the Foreign Affairs Committee, has long been a critic of the Truman foreign policy. Rep. Dewey Short of Missouri, new Armed Services Committee Chief, has been opposed to the draft and universal military training.

Eisenhower said at Augusta, Ga., where he is vacationing, that he wants to put his men in touch with the operations of government as soon as possible.

Truman already had invited the President-elect to send along a man to sit in final conferences on the annual budget. The thick, printed volume of the budget proposal must go to press about a month before the Jan. 18 date on which its submission to Congress is required.

This is two days before Eisenhower officially takes over as president. He has promised to cut the budget back in four years to 60 billion dollars from the present year's level of about 79 billion.

No Budget On Budget
Budget Director Frederick J. Lawton, on the way out with Truman appointees, said in a statement that figures have not yet been assembled on major budget items involving defense, atomic energy and foreign aid expenditures. He did not say whether the advice of Eisenhower's representatives would be heeded on these and other sections.

GOP Congress Leaders Hope to Meet With Ike
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican meet with President-elect Eisenhower early next month to discuss the general's legislative program. The House Republican leader, Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, told a reporter today he understood the meeting would be held here around Dec. 1. While nothing definite has been arranged, Martin said, there was a general understanding that a meeting would be called.

Martin is slated to be speaker of the House in the new Congress convening Jan. 3.

GOP Row Starting On Spoils

Bitter Fight Over Majority Leader Position in House Seen Quite Likely

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

Congressional Republicans bickered over the spoils of the Eisenhower landslide victory today as the President-elect prepares to send his first invasion wave into Washington.

Senate GOP members found themselves embroiled in a possibly bitter fight over their party floor leadership.

Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire spread the word "he would rather be temporary president of that body—and third in the line of succession for the presidency—than keep the job he now holds. Bridges also could be chairman of Appropriations or Armed Services Committees in a Republican-controlled Senate.

Several In "Running"
Senators Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Homer Ferguson of Michigan, William Knowland of California, Homer Capehart of Indiana, Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa and Everett Dirksen of Illinois were projected by speculation into the scramble.

Although Saltonstall was the only early and enthusiastic Eisenhower backer in this group, it seemed likely that Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio—still commander of the Republican policy makers—would have a great deal to say about the choice of the floor manager.

Elections At-a-Glance

By The Associated Press

This was the election picture at noon (EST) today (Friday), with nearly all returns tabulated:

Eisenhower elected President by an electoral vote of 442 to 89 for Stevenson 9.

Eisenhower's popular vote, the greatest ever achieved, stood at 32,995,608 with 142,182 of the nation's 146,370 voting units counted. Stevenson received 26,549,961 votes. Total vote of 59,545,569 is a record high.

Eisenhower won all states but these: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, West Virginia, Kentucky still in doubt pending an official canvass. Stevenson led in Kentucky by 1,047 votes.

Senate: 35 races — Democrats elected 12; holdovers 35; total 47. Republicans elected 23; holdovers 25; total 48. Independents, 1 hold-over. Republicans gained 6 seats (Arizona, Connecticut, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Wyoming); Democrats gained 4 (Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Washington).

House: 435 races — Democrats elected 209; Republicans 220; Independents 1; undecided 5. Democrats lead in 4 undecided races. Republicans in 1. Needed to control 218.

Governors: 30 races — Democrats elected 9; Republicans 20 (again of 5). Democrats lead in 1 undecided race (Michigan). Total GOP gain: 5.

Democrats Lead In 5 of 6 Yet Undecided Races
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats were ahead today in five of the six undecided contests for election to the U. S. House of Representatives. Final tallies in some of these races may not be made for weeks.

With 218 seats needed to control the House, the Republicans have elected 220 and the Democrats 208 while one independent has been chosen. One of the elected Democrats—Adolph Sabath of Illinois—died yesterday reducing the Democratic roster to 207.

If the present trend continues, the makeup of the House at its assembling will be: Republicans 221; Democrats 213 (one vacancy); Independent 1.

A tabulation of the absentee ballots for an official canvass will be needed in the undecided races to determine the eventual winner.

In Missouri's 11th district (unofficial vote complete) the vote stood: Rep. Morgan M. Moulder, Democratic incumbent, 69,803; Max Schwabe, Republican, 69,249. Absentee ballots to be counted today.

Naval 'Ammo' Dump Explosion Kills One Man
MCALISTER, Okla. (AP) — One man was killed today in an explosion at the U. S. Naval Ammunition Depot eight miles south of here.

He was identified as L. J. Yancy, Red Oak, Okla. Yancy was loading a five inch projectile when the explosion occurred. There is no indication of what caused the accident.

Thirty-five other persons were working in the building but escaped with no worse injuries than cuts from flying glass.

All windows were blown out of the building and the roof was damaged. A small fire was extinguished quickly with little damage.

It was the second fatal accident at the depot since it was established in 1943. The other was Dec. 5, 1944, when 11 persons were killed in an explosion.

The depot, which covers the southwest quarter of Pittsburg County in the hill country of southeast Oklahoma, is the second largest in the United States.

It employs about 3,500 civilian employees.

Ike's Lead Nears 6 1/2 Million Votes

Ike Digs Into Huge Mail Pile

Begins Drafting His Plans for Conferences And Conversations Before He Meets HST

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower ploughed into a mountain of mail today, and began drafting his plans for the "conversations and conferences" that he said must precede his meeting with President Truman.

He also planned another round of golf this afternoon — a more serious round than he played yesterday.

The new President-elect came to Augusta for a rest, settling into a secluded white cottage about 200 yards from the first tee of the National Golf Club course. But the affairs of state are crowding in on him more rapidly than he expected.

An aide said he will go back to work immediately, even though this is only his second full day of vacationing.

In large part, this was made necessary by Truman's suggestion for a meeting "at your early convenience" to discuss the problems attendant on the transfer of government to a new president and a different party.

Would Meet HST Nov. 17
Eisenhower messaged back agreement, and suggested the week of Nov. 17 as the date. He added: "I obviously require a reasonable time for conversations and conferences leading up to the designation of important assistants."

Consequently, it appeared that the white cottage on the golf course may soon see numerous persons coming and going. The general's intention seems to be to ask his confidantes to go to Washington for conferences "in several departments of the federal government." Eisenhower in his telegram to the President used the Army phrase "for indoctrination."

The men he selects for those talks may very well be the ones he has in mind for Cabinet assignments in the same departments.

So far, in his conversations, he has not pointed toward anyone. It is generally believed, however, that he will keep with him some members of the team that carried him first to the party's nomination, and then to victory in the election.

Cabinet 'Probables'
The leaders of his shock troops were Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire; Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts; Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas; Sen. Fred Seaton of Nebraska; Paul Hoffman, former director of the ECA; and Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania.

Among his close associates were Gen. Lucius Clay, former military governor of the American zone in Germany, and John Foster Dulles, foreign policy adviser.

His proposal for the week of Nov. 17 appeared to indicate that he is not planning to go to Korea much before the end of this month. He pledged himself to make the trip, confirmed in message to the President Wednesday that he will notify the secretary of defense when to provide transportation.

Will See War at Worst
There is a grim and bitter advantage to arriving in the war zone in late November or early December. He will see the front at its savage worst.

By the middle of this month winter will be settling over the lines. A torrent of cutting cold rolls down the peninsula from Siberia. For the foot-sloggers, the next four months are sheer misery.

Eisenhower has said that he would go to Korea with two primary objectives. One is to search for the means of bringing an honorable end to this month. The other is to determine how rapidly, and in what degree, South Korean divisions can be trained and organized for front-line duty so that American divisions may be brought back to reserve duty in the rear.

One of his first tasks undoubtedly will be with Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea. Rhee has messaged congratulations on the general's victory in the election.

Can Take Experts' View
Eisenhower, an expert on plans, operations and organization, can address himself among other things to the problems of logistics—getting arms and equipment into Korea, and a cadre of officers to direct the training of the Koreans. This of necessity must be coordinated with American efforts to build an army in Europe.

Many Fair Dealers are wondering what happened to all that money they "saved" to support them in retirement.

One way the 37,000,000 voters for Ike can help the new administration is to start right now planning to take care of themselves.

There are actually some persons who, because of faulty judgment in the Tuesday election, want to be reimbursed by the government.

The bride baking her first biscuits might reply to her expostulating husband: "Well, the domestic hen eats stones to aid her digestion."

Truman Asks Ike Delegates Attend Meets

Urges Attendance With Defense, State And Budget Bureaus

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman today asked President-elect Eisenhower to send representatives to the Defense and State Departments and Budget Bureau "at the earliest possible moment."

In a telegram to Eisenhower, the President also confirmed Nov. 17 as the date for a White House meeting with his Republican successor to arrange an orderly transfer of executive authority.

The White House disclosed that Truman sent a personal messenger yesterday to Eisenhower who is resting at Augusta, Ga.

A spokesman would not tell newsmen the identity of the messenger nor the nature of his information for the general.

The spokesman said the messenger was to suggest "other lines of cooperation" in the interim period before the inauguration, but that the proposals would not be made public.

Truman's telegram to Eisenhower said:

"Your telegram of yesterday arrived just after my messenger had departed for Augusta.

"We evidently are thinking along the same lines with regard to the transfer of the executive branch of the government.

"I will be happy to see you the seventeenth if that date is entirely satisfactory to you.

"I will appreciate your appointing the liaison men for State and Defense at the earliest possible moment.

"It also will require considerable time to close up the budget and to get it ready for presentation before Jan. 18. I hope your man can report to the Budget (Bureau) as promptly as possible."

The telegram was addressed as follows: "Honorable Dwight D. Eisenhower, President-elect of the National Golf Course, Augusta, Ga. National Golf Course, Augusta, Ga. National Golf Course, Augusta, Ga."

It was signed "Harry S. Truman."

Storms at Sea Claim Lives Of 18 Persons
LONDON (AP) — Storms that raged from the North Sea to the Mediterranean claimed at least 18 lives in Europe today and left considerable property damage, especially to ships and dock installations.

Winds of up to more than 90 miles an hour buffeted the British Isles, the English Channel, the Irish and North Seas.

Almost all ports along the North Sea coast reported dikes and dock damage. Four men in an emergency dike repair squad drowned at Wersabe near Wesermuende, Germany. Two persons were killed in Berlin when winds toppled bomb-damaged buildings. Lightning killed a West German woman in a farm field.

The 6,379-ton Panamanian steamer Faustus ran aground off the Hook of Holland yesterday and the crew abandoned ship. The Faustus, carrying a cargo of coal from Newport News, Va. to Rotterdam, tried to enter the new waterway leading up to Rotterdam without a pilot.

In England, a dozen ships were torn from their moorings in the Thames. The channel boat Hampton Ferry made a storm-tossed crossing with 107 passengers from Dover to Dunkerque but was unable to dock on the French side and returned to England.

Storms that have lashed the Ligurian and Tyrrhenian Seas for three days have taken at least 10 lives. Fishing fleets scurried into port. Landing operations in NATO's big Mediterranean naval manuevers were postponed.

Church Clinic On Youth Work Here Nov. 16

A program is being set up by a number of churches of Sedalia, known as a "Clinic on Youth Work," for the purpose of assisting churches in meeting some of the basic needs of youth. The clinic is to be held Sunday, Nov. 16, at the Broadway Presbyterian Church, beginning with a fellowship period for young people at 3:30 p.m. A feature on the afternoon program will be a forum made up of young people which will deal with the theme: "The Basic Needs of Youth." Also included in the program will be group meetings for young people and workers with young people, a snack period and informal fellowship.

Leadership for the clinic will be provided by Don Newby, director of youth work for the Missouri Council of Churches; Miss Martha Miller, director of religious education for the Missouri Council of Churches; and Robert Nicholas, president of the United Christian Youth Movement of Missouri. The local committee making arrangements for the clinic is made up of Miss Leta Bradney, chairman, the Rev. Lee F. Soxman, the Rev. D. Warren Neal, the Rev. David M. Bryan and the Rev. W. C. Bessmer.

At the base of the stone Bible is what is said to be the "largest hand-written Bible in the world."

men in the Methodist Church are prospective members of Methodist Men clubs. According to Robert G. Mayfield, executive secretary of the board, "We seek to mobilize through Methodist Men the tremendous power and enthusiasm of the men of the church. Our purpose is to give strength to the program of Christ and His Church through consecrated service of men in every local church of Methodism."

Vincent Banks is president of the newly formed group and Harry Hopkins, secretary.

Croxton Announces Sunday Sermon Themes

The subject for the Rev. T. W. Croxton, pastor, for the Sunday morning worship service at the First Baptist Church will be "On Being a Good Church Member."

In the evening the theme will be "The Kind of Religion We Need."

For November the emphasis will be on stewardship. This will include not only the financial support, but every phase of the church program. Large numbers of members are expected for each service.

On Wednesday evening the regular mid-week service will be held. Circle meetings of the Women's Missionary Society will be in Thursday afternoon and the associational brotherhood meeting will be Friday at 6:30 p. m.

Pentecostal Church Of God In Revival

Rev. Wood Begins His 12th Year as Pastor

The Rev. H. A. Wood is beginning his 12th year as pastor at the Walnut Grove Methodist Church where the conference program has been adopted with a special, interesting feature for each Sunday.

Bible Words to Live by

It would be difficult for me to select any one verse of Scripture as the one which I would place above all others as a favorite, but certainly one of my favorites is the 12th verse of the 1st Chapter of John, "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name." I like this verse because it draws a contrast between the experience of being merely a physical child of God through creation and a spiritual child of God through the deep religious experience of receiving Christ into our hearts. It assures us that when we are willing to receive Him, God provides all the necessary power with which to make the required changes in our attitudes, relationships, and behavior.

Rev. Freeberg In Farewell Here Sunday

Sunday, Nov. 9, will mark two significant occasions at Trinity Lutheran Church as members and friends of the congregation worship together in the Little Theatre at Smith-Cotton High School.

The Rev. C. Arthur Freeberg, pastor of the church for nearly five years, will preach his farewell sermon before leaving Nov. 14 to become pastor of Salem Lutheran Church at Omaha, Neb.

This same worship service will be in charge of the three young people who will be received into the church by the rite of confirmation.

Rev. Freeberg has chosen as his sermon topic for his last Sunday in Sedalia, "Five Significant Words." In this message the pastor will call to the attention of both the congregation and the confirmation class five words which express the meaning of being a Christian and living the Christian life.

The three young people to be received by the rite of confirmation are: Dale Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson; Barbara Freund, daughter of Mrs. Louise Freund; and Margaret Kathryn Eickhoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Eickhoff. These young people have been instructed in the fundamentals of the Christian faith and will now be received into full membership privileges by the rite of confirmation. They will also receive their first communion on this occasion.

Ronald Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Alexander, will be received into the church by the sacrament of holy baptism at this same service.

Rev. Arnold Will Go to Houstonia For Revival Meeting

The Rev. W. P. Arnold, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, will be in charge of revival services to be held at the Houstonia Baptist Church during the two weeks, Nov. 10 to 23. Clay Kilborn Jr., Sweet Springs, will be leader of the musical part of each service, including the junior choir.

Services will begin at 7:30 p. m. on Monday, Nov. 10, and will continue each evening at that hour. Morning services will begin at 10 a. m. Wednesday, Nov. 12, and will continue each morning with the exception of Saturday and Monday.

Foursquare Chapel Revival Continuing

The Foursquare Chapel's revival meeting is continuing. The Rev. Pearl Mabry of St. Joseph is speaking the remainder of this week and on Sunday. Monday night the Rev. Peggy Brown of St. Louis will be here to speak nights during the coming week.

Begin Winter Relief

TOKYO (AP)—Winter relief packages sponsored by the International Junior Chamber of Commerce will begin arriving in Japan about Dec. 10 for transport shipment to civilians in war-wrecked Korea.

Church For Sale, Says Pastor's Topic

The Rev. D. Warren Neal, pastor, has a sermon theme for Sunday morning that reads like a classified advertisement. It says: "For Sale—Broadway Presbyterian Church." He is pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church.

Line Play Will Feature KU-Huskars

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Brisk line play by both teams is expected to highlight the Kansas-Nebraska football game at Lawrence, Kas., tomorrow.

The biggest encounter looms between a couple of tackles—offender Oliver Spencer for Kansas and defender Jerry Minnick for Nebraska. Both are outstanding contenders for all regional and possible All America recognition.

Spencer, a 218 pound senior, will line up on the right side of the line against Minnick, 215 pound junior.

Kansas, with a 6-1 season record and 3-1 in the league, rates as a two-touchdown favorite but can't expect to win without an all out effort. Nebraska has two victories, a tie and a loss in the conference and has won four against two losses and a tie all season.

Four other games will involve Big Seven members.

League-leading Missouri, 3-0 in the conference, takes on the tough Colorado Buffaloes at Columbia, Mo. Colorado has ties with Oklahoma and Nebraska in the conference and a loss and a victory. The game rates as a toss up.

Mighty Oklahoma has its guns loaded for an intersectional clash with Notre Dame at South Bend. The Sooners' sharp offensive play makes them the favorite to win their sixth straight victory of the year against the opening tie with Colorado.

And for the first time in years, Kansas State goes against a major foe with the game shaping up as even. The Wildcats, beaten in their last six starts, will meet Wyoming of the Skyline Eight at Manhattan, Kas. Wyoming has won 3 and lost 3.

Iowa State also has a non-league game, meeting its intra-state rival, Drake, at Ames, Ia.

Notre Dame Runs At Upset Fever. Pitch for Sooners

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, running a high upset fever, and the unbeaten Oklahoma Sooners will meet for the first time on the gridiron tomorrow in a national televised natural.

Oklahoma and its split-T magic figure to be at least a two-touchdown favorite in the country's No. 1 contest of the day.

Knockoff is at 1:30 p. m. CST and a capacity throng of 57,000 will jam into Notre Dame Stadium.

A high scoring game is in prospect as the Irish match their split-T attack against that of the Sooners, who lead the nation in ball-carrying yards with an average of 295.2 per game and are No. 1 in scoring with 251 points in six games.

Notre Dame has a season record of four victories, one loss and a tie with Penn. Oklahoma has five triumphs and a deadlock with Colorado.

Each has played Pittsburgh. Pitt stunned the Irish 22-19 while Oklahoma trounced the Panthers 49-20. Texas was their only other common foe. Notre Dame winning 14-7 and the Sooners smashing to a 49-20 decision the following week.

Comparisons, however, should not be taken too seriously for tomorrow's showdown. Notre Dame has worked itself into a typical do-or-die fervor as it hard to beat, if at all, in such a mood, a personal friend of Irish coach Frank Leahy, is reported to have started pointing for Notre Dame three years ago when the two-game, home-and-home series was first agreed upon to start in 1952.

Oklahoma, ranked No. 4 nationally in the Associated Press poll, is more than anxious to move up and impressive victory over the Irish, currently No. 10, would provide an ideal stepping stone.

Undoubtedly the Sooners would like to pour it out with a chance of looking better against the Irish than Michigan State, co-oped nationally, possibly can do when it tangles with Notre Dame next week.

Despite Leahy's ability to get an all-out effort from his lads, some football experts think Oklahoma has the material not only to win but to slam out the worst defeat ever handed the Leahy-coached Irish. The biggest victory score ever run up against Leahy's outfit was 35-0 by Michigan State last year.

Notre Dame's worst defeat of all time was by Army, 59-0, in 1944 when Leahy was in the Navy and the team was coached by Ed McKeever.

Anna Boettiger, FDR's Daughter, To Wed Doctor

NEW YORK (AP) — Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, only daughter of the late President Roosevelt, will be married next Tuesday to Dr. James A. Halsted of Los Angeles.

The marriage will take place at Halsted's ranch in the Malibu Mountains outside Los Angeles, her mother, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, announced. She and other members of the Roosevelt family will attend the ceremony.

It will be the third marriage for Dr. Boettiger, 46. She married Curtis B. Dall in 1926 and was divorced from him in 1934. In 1935 she married John Boettiger, a newspaper man, and was divorced from him in 1949. Boettiger committed suicide in 1950 by leaping out a New York hotel window.

Mrs. Boettiger has three children, Eleanor, Curtis and John, and three grandchildren. Dr. Halsted, who was divorced from his wife last year, has four children.

Dr. Halsted is a member of the medical service at the Veterans' Administration center in Los Angeles and is assistant clinical professor of medicine at the University of California medical school at Los Angeles.

Savages Sell Store, Will Go to Kansas City to Make Home

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Savage, who for the past two years have resided in Sedalia where they operated the Mode O'Day Shop, have sold their business to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Leeders of Warrensburg and will leave the last of next week for Kansas City to make their home.

While in Sedalia, Mr. and Mrs. Savage, who came here from Springfield, have made many friends. They are members of the First Baptist Church, and the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, Masonic and other organizations and Mr. Savage is a member of the Kiwanis Club. They have been very active in civic affairs while in Sedalia, and both hate to leave, however, they feel they will be close enough that they can come back weekends and for various special events in Sedalia.

Report From State Convention—

Washington School Ranks 5th In State for PTA Members

"These Things We Can Do" was the theme of the 37th annual convention of the Missouri Congress of Parent and Teachers held in Kansas City Oct. 28 to Oct. 30.

Those attending from Sedalia were: Mrs. Eddie Deuel, Mrs. Harold Painter, Mrs. W. S. Barton, Mrs. Fred Brunet, Mrs. V. A. Siegel, Mrs. Jack Cross, Mrs. George Chamberlin, Mrs. Bill Morgan, Mrs. Fred Neidhold, Mrs. Haskell Cook, Mrs. Kenneth Miller, and Mrs. Charles Poyner. Also attending was Kurman Riley, retiring district president of the Sedalia district, but newly appointed on the state board of the managers as magazine chairman.

Mrs. M. E. Green and Mrs. Verney Engholm, both former members of the state board, drove up for the old timers breakfast held on Wednesday morning at the hotel. The group was proud of the fact that Washington school of Sedalia ranked fifth of all schools in Missouri in PTA membership with 783 members for 1951-52.

There are 195,817 PTA members in the state of Missouri with 2,273 units.

Headquarters for the convention was the Hotel President and registered were 1,094 delegates with 1,018 of these being voting delegates.

Mrs. Walter H. Beckman, vice-president, was the official representative of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. Beckman, a native of Georgia, captivated the groups with her sense of humor and her southern accent. She gave the opening address of the convention entitled: "These Things We Do".

Mrs. Beckman also gave the concluding address and summed up the whole convention with these eight points that parents can do: 1, study all the legislation for the betterment of schools; 2, acquaint themselves with the findings and the tax citizens committee; 3, know that home making is a job second to none; 4, support the student loan fund; 5, derive some good from public criticism; 6, listen as youth speaks; 7, be well informed and extend their thinking.

On the program was a panel of high school youngsters who gave their ideas on problems of government, teenagers, schools and parents.

Another inspiring talk was given by Mrs. James Wyker, president of the United Church Women of America, on "These Things We Can Do, Live Abundantly". She also told of her many experiences here and abroad.

The banquet was held in the ball room of the hotel at which the speaker was Dr. Henry Harman, president of Drake University in Des Moines, Ia.

There were discussions held on Amendment 2 and the lay citizens committee of which the state president, Mrs. Merman Engle was a member.

Open forums were held each afternoon in the municipal auditorium on all of the phases of the Parent-Teacher work.

New officers installed by Mrs. Beckman were: Irene Detlin, president of the U. N. S. 90th unit; Edith Beland, second vice-president; Helen Ross, treasurer; Mrs. Detlin in accepting the offices of president said she hoped to become everybody's "Friend Irma".

Former Knob Noster Man Retires, Takes Similar Job at Once

Claude A. Shepherd of Kansas City, formerly of Knob Noster, retired Friday as a postal employee, superintendent of the Sunny Slope station. He started his career in 1906 as a postal clerk at a salary of $800 a year in the old Union Station annex in the West Bottoms of Kansas City.

Since that time he has held a series of positions ranging from superintendent of outgoing mail at the main Kansas City post office to substation superintendent at several stations and an assistant superintendent of mails in the main building.

As he still wishes to be employed, he began work Saturday in the postal substation of the new Veterans Administration Hospital. In taking the new job, he had to put in a contract bid in competition with other men. His job there will be other men. His registered mail, stamps and money orders, not the regular distributions and collection of mails.

Mr. Shepherd is a brother of Frank B. Shepherd of Knob Noster.

College President Sees Better Russian, US Relations With Ike

CHICAGO (AP) — A college president says the election of Dwight D. Eisenhower as president may mean improvement of U. S. relations with Russia.

But Dr. George S. Benson, of Harding College, Searcy, Ark., says planned visit to Korea will not end the Korean War.

Addressing members of the American Finance Conference, an association of independent automobile sales credit companies, Benson said yesterday:

"There will be no important changes in foreign policy although there can be some improvement in relations with Russia. There will be no important economic domestic repercussions."

Boy Falls From Tree While Building House In "Cardboard City"

LINCOLN — Building a house proved to be pretty painful to Jerry Lehman, 10-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Lehman. He slipped and fell from his lofty perch in a tree Friday afternoon and dislocated an elbow.

The children of Lincoln have what is known as "Cardboard City". They have taken refrigerator boxes and other large boxes and built houses and stores from them and it was here that Jerry was attempting to build a tree house.

He was taken to Lakeside Hospital, Kansas City, and is expected to return home Friday evening or Saturday. His condition is reported as satisfactory.

MU Cood Killed Today In Crash on Hiway 40

COLUMBIA (AP) — Miss Ruth Neal 17, University of Missouri co-ed of Columbia, was killed shortly before noon today when her automobile swerved into a transport truck on Highway 40 East of Columbia.

Miss Mary Rogers Cunningham, 21, of St. Louis who was riding with Miss Neal, was brought to the University of Missouri hospital here, where her injuries were described as not serious.

Miss Neal was a daughter of Mrs. Robert Neal of Columbia, and the late Professor Robert Neal of the faculty of the school of journalism here. Miss Cunningham is a daughter of J. H. Cunningham, 808 W. Watson Road, St. Louis.

Witnesses said the car in which the two young women were riding swerved off the highway, and then back, hitting a heavy transport truck driven by Owen Cramer of Blackburn, Mo.

Air Force Calls Tornado a 'Risk'; Wiley Doubts It

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has labelled the tornado which wrecked Carswell Field in Texas Sept. 1, a "calculated risk" that must be taken.

But Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) releasing an air force report on the multi-million-dollar disaster today called that explanation "inadequate" and "unsatisfactory," "highly displeasing."

The air force position, as expressed by Maj. Gen. William F. McKee, assistant vice chief of staff:

"A. Tornadoes are unpredictable—weather reports gave no hint a violent windstorm was coming."

B. Wide dispersal of B-36s could not now be achieved without dangerously retarding the air force's scheduled buildup to 143 wings."

C. "For the time being we must continue to take the calculated risk of putting 'many eggs in one basket.'"

Winds up to an estimated 125 miles an hour whipped through one of the nation's largest nests of giant bombers at Carswell air force base, just outside Ft. Worth, on Labor Day.

The air force estimated the loss at 48 million dollars.

Wiley, chairman-to-be of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, asked Secretary of the Air Force Finletter in a letter Oct. 20 why so many bombers were bunched together.

He said his constituents were wondering "whether our military officials had entirely escaped from the pre-Pearl Harbor super-confidence which proved so disastrous in World War II."

Gen. McKee, in reply, said the air force would like to disperse its strategic forces widely to protect them from direct attack and sabotage as well as tornadoes, but cannot do so because of a shortage of air base facilities.

Peru to Ask US, Russia Map Armistice

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Peru's Victor Belandue said today he will propose that the United States get together with Russia and some other countries to try to work out a Korean armistice.

Belandue suggested that all countries which have submitted resolutions in the U. N. S. 90th unit, political committee dealing with a Korean armistice be appointed to a subcommittee to thrash out an agreed version. The Soviet Union, Mexico, and Peru have handed in resolutions and the U. S. is one of 21 sponsors of a draft backing up the U. N. truce negotiators at Panmunjom.

Belandue disclosed his plan as a group of Asian-Arab delegates began a closed-door meeting aimed at ending a way of ending the Korean deadlock.

Creation of a subcommittee would have the effect of taking the Korean debate out of the glare of publicized meetings and would give delegates time to hear from President-elect Eisenhower what his views are.

Belandue also suggested today—but not as yet in a formal resolution—that the screening of Communist war prisoners in Korea be turned over to Indian, Sweden and Switzerland. These countries, he said, should also assume custody of those prisoners who say they do not want to go home.

The three neutrals, he said, could then ask such countries as Britain, France, New Zealand or Australia to find room for the emigres in their non-self-governing territories.

Ex-Sergeant Goes to Trial For Treason

NEW YORK, N. Y. — A retired officer captured on Corridor with former Army Sgt. John D. Provoost says he told the latter he would try to have him "brought to justice" if he survived the war.

The 35-year-old Provoost is on trial on treason charges. He is accused of going over to the Japanese after his capture of Corridor in 1942.

A retired colonel, Theodore Teague, 61, testified yesterday in Federal Court that Provoost twice advised him to betray a secret American code to the Japanese.

Teague quoted Provoost as once saying:

"Col. Teague, if you ask my advice, you will give the code to the Japanese."

Teague said he told Provoost, "The hell with that stuff."

On another occasion, Teague said, he was being quizzed by the Japanese and Provoost told him:

"If you ask my advice, you will give the Japanese the code and if you do not do it they will beat it out of you anyway."

Teague testified that he answered Provoost:

"You — — — I did not ask you for advice. I do not intend to take it. The war is not over and, if I survive it, I will try my best to have you brought to justice."

The government further charges that Provoost broadcast Japanese propaganda and turned fellow American captives over to the Japanese for torture. Wartime treason is punishable by death.

Stockholm's Divorcees Start Club

By EINAR PRAVITZ

STOCKHOLM, N. Y. — About a year ago a Stockholm divorcee got a brilliant idea—why not found a club for divorced people?

Himself a divorced man of two years standing, he had had plenty of experience in the loneliness that results after the severance of marital ties and most of the contacts any couple holds in common.

There were many people, both male and female, in the same predicament who rallied to help him with his project.

The payoff: Stockholm, a city of many divorcees but no night clubs, got its "divorcees' club," which may be the first organized project of its kind.

The club was a success from the first. It now has some 200 members who meet once a week in a 17th century cellar in the "old town" with a genuine Parisian atmosphere.

The "Friday Club," as it is called officially, has rigorous rules and regulations, however, and the qualifications of all are closely checked.

At first a number of married persons managed to squeeze in, attracted no doubt by the obvious possibilities. Some elderly gentlemen tried for membership. The rules now are very strict: only applicants who can prove they are bona fide survivors of an unhappy marriage, officially terminated are welcomed to membership.

For a relatively modest fee, they get food entertainment and dancing once a week. The arrangement has been so successful and aroused so much interest all over Sweden that divorced couples all over the country are following the example and planning a nation-wide association.

The Stockholm club membership includes several actors, dentists, businessmen, engineers and nurses and cuts through all strata of society. At first, it was mainly newly divorced women who joined the club, seeking an escape from sudden loneliness. Now the disproportion between male and female members is beginning to disappear.

The aim of the management is an even distribution.

The board of directors often has found itself serving as a consulting bureau. Members with various post-marital troubles want advice on how to plan their future and seek the solutions from people who can speak from experience on the divorced persons' problems.

Smithton Man Hurt By A Runaway Team

John Yeager, Smithton, suffered fractures of the arm, leg and ribs Thursday when a bolting team of mules pulled a heavy farm wagon over him.

According to Dr. Pete Seigel, who treated him, the accident occurred while Yeager was picking corn. The team broke and in the chase Yeager fell and the wagon was pulled over him.

Dr. Seigel treated the injured man at Bothwell Hospital.

U. S. Riders Take Laurels At Horse Show

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States equestrian team is going great guns at the 64th National Horse Show, outshining the best riders from four other nations in the international jumping competition.

But the question came up today: what is this country going to do for a team to replace the three star members now planning to retire — at least for the year — after the Toronto winter fair in Canada ends Nov. 22? The U. S. has been invited to two shows in Mexico next month.

Arthur McCashin of Pluckemin, N. J., captain of the U. S. team, and Billy Steinkraus of Westport, Conn., both of whom competed in the Olympic games last summer in Helsinki, along with Maj. John Russell, now on Army duty in Germany, say they are through. The same goes for Mrs. Carol Durand, the Kansas City housewife who left a husband and baby at home to return to international competition at the current Madison Square Garden show.

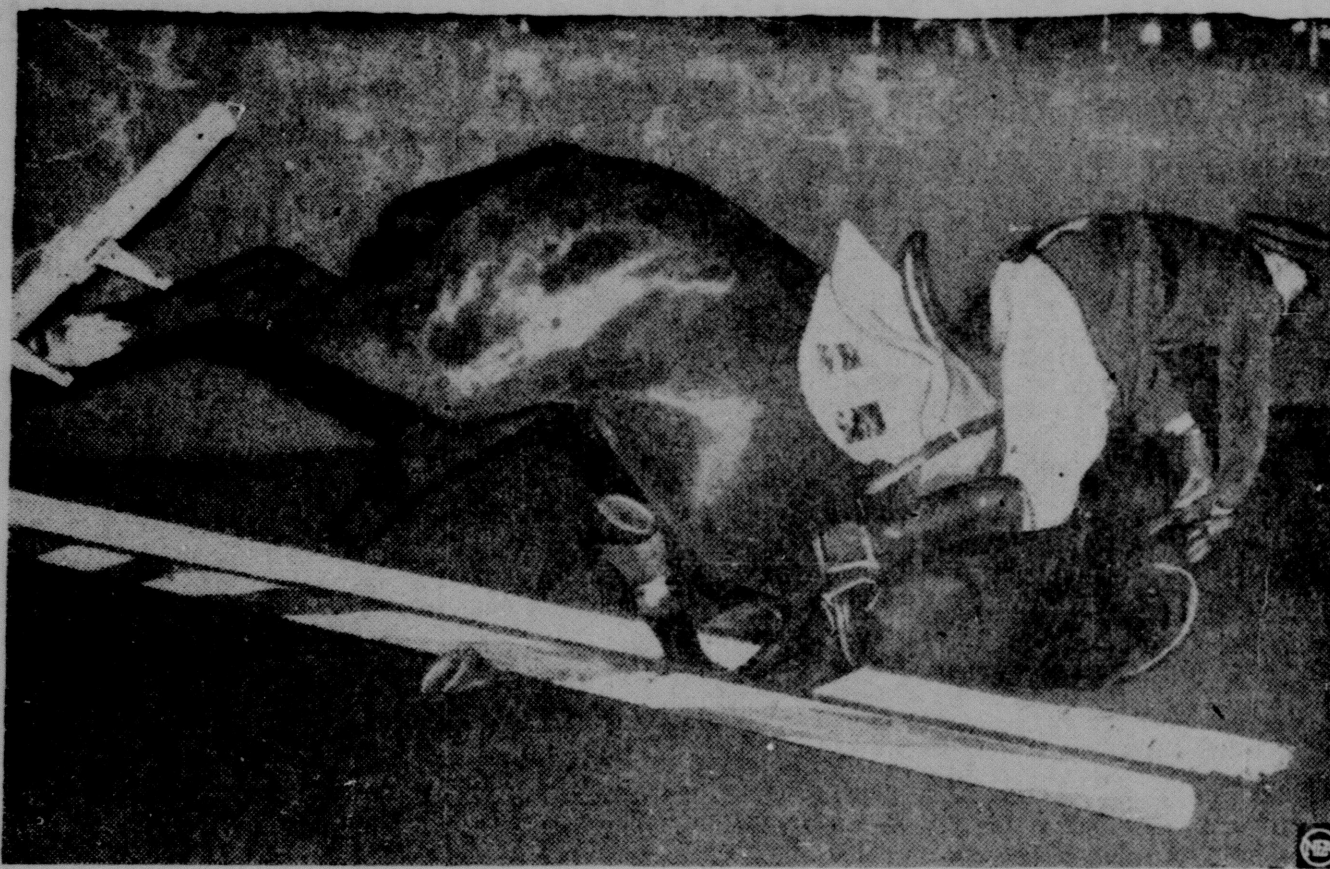

"This is all swell," said young Steinkraus, star of the U. S. mate who has won three individual championships including the President of Mexico Trophy last night. "But, it isn't putting any money in the bank for me. I have to go back to work."

Steinkraus, 27, and McCashin have been under a terrific grind for 14 months, while Mrs. Durand kept in trim at home since she wasn't eligible for the Olympics. McCashin has a wife and family at his New Jersey farm and he's seen very little of them for more than one year.

Brig. Gen. Alfred G. Tuckerman, president of the national show, says Maj. Jack Burton, with the U. S. Army at Ft. Knox, Ky., Charles B. Lyman Jr., West Chester, Pa., Carter Buller, Grosse Pointe, Mich., and Philip Tate, Southern Pines, N. C., are anxious to ride on a new team.

But, the major problem is horses. Three on lease from the U. S. Army—Democrat, now 19; Totilla, 20-year-old captured German horse; and Rattler — are showing signs of wear.

The only two figured certain are Reno Kirk, owned by Mrs. John W. Wofford, Ft. Riley, Kan., and Paleface, owned by Sam J. Campbell, Mt. Carroll, Ill. Help must be sought from owners of jumpers, if the U. S. is to appear in Mexico — and for that matter, in the international competition next year.

NEIGH, O'SHEA!—Capt. Colin O'Shea of the Irish Army team headed for a one-point landing when Kilkenny failed to take the fourth barrier in the international jumping competition of Harrisburg's Pennsylvania National Horse Show. The Irish team competed in the National, ending at Madison Square Garden Nov. 11 (NEA)

Home Stretch For Football Now Underway

NEW YORK (AP)—The college football season begins its mad rush down the home stretch tomorrow with gold in the form of bowl games and glory in the form of conference championships for the first to hit the wire.

With the exception of the University of Maryland—rated second in the Associated Press' weekly poll — all the big boys get into action. Except for Oklahoma, the undefeated teams all seem to have easy sailing.

The Sooners, well on their way to another Big Seven crown, a title on which they have squandered their rights, face Notre Dame in the NCAA's television game of the week. Some of these TV games have been busts since the schedule was made up before the season started with the intention of bringing in a top game of the day.

The Irish have been in-and-outers most of the season, but although underdogs they should at least make it close for Billy Vessels, and company. If they rise to the occasion, it could be an upset. The Sooners rank fourth in the nation and are undefeated although they've been tied once.

Michigan State, the No. 1 outfit, has a breather (are there anything except breathers for the Spartans these days?) in Indiana and the only question seems to be how long Biggie Munn's lads will wait before turning on the power.

Georgia Tech, UCLA and Southern California should have no undue trouble in their day's assignments. Tech, already selected for the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans on New Year's Day, goes against Army, which, although no pushover in any man's league, certainly is not in the Rambler's Wrecks' class.

UCLA and Southern California, in a neck and neck battle for the Pacific Coast Conference title and the Rose Bowl nomination, tangle with Oregon State and Stanford, respectively. For both schools it should be just another warmup as they rush toward their showdown game on Nov. 22.

Kansas, which still has hopes, slight though they are, of winning the Big Seven crown from Oklahoma, should have no trouble in its conference game with Nebraska, a team that's only as good as Bobbie Reynolds—and he's been hampered with an injury.

In the Big 10 and Southwest Conference, Purdue and Texas are leading the pack in the race for the Rose and Cotton bowls, and both figure to take one step nearer their league titles. Purdue plays Minnesota and Texas, which has become a giant in the SWC, tackles Baylor.

Villanova and Mississippi, a pair of teams that are undefeated but tied and have strong hopes of winding up in one of the big bowls, have breezes. Villanova, probably the strongest team in the East this year, travels to Oklahoma for a game with the University of Tulsa, while Mississippi figures to get nothing more than a good warmup when it faces Houston.

Eighty-ranked Tennessee, the team that won the AP poll last year, with only one defeat on its slate is favored over Louisiana State, while Penn State, which has been mentioned as a possible Cotton Bowl nominee, has a fairly tough foe in Syracuse.

Eisenhower Can Let Sports Fans Know About His Days as Baseball Pro

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the first things President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower might have his public relations staff clear up for the nation's baseball fans is his short adventure as a professional baseball player. The details remain clouded in mystery.

It is understood the general played in the Central Kansas League as "Wilson" during the summer of 1912, while on furlough from West Point.

There were three Wilsons in that circuit—Alfy, who managed the Great Bend club, and two who are identified by neither first names nor even initials in the Spalding Official Guide of 1913.

It was possibly either the Wilson who was in 23 contests for Lyons, The Manhattan Wilson got seven hits in 21 times at bat for

Small Schools' Passers Head For New Marks

NEW YORK (AP)—A trio of small college forward passing marksmen, aiming for a new completion record, have their goal in sight.

Sophomore Wes Bair of Illinois State Normal is the forward passing leader among small college performers with 105 completions. Don Gottlieb of Sam Houston State, who had set the pace last season, is second with 103 and Noel Rebenacker of Massachusetts ranks third with 100 bulletines.

Each tosser has two games remaining in which to surpass the record of 114 completions, set last season by Andy MacDonald of Central Michigan, figures released today by the NCAA disclosed.

Gottlieb, who tops the aerial artists in attempts (201), yards gained (1,804) and touchdown passes (15), also heads the list in total offense with 1,863 yards gained rushing and passing. Rebenacker is runnerup in this department with 1,627 yards.

Both Gottlieb and Rebenacker have a chance at eclipsing the total offense record of 2,006 yards, which was set in 1949 by Connie Callahan of Morrisville, N. C., who needs only 144 yards to surpass the standard.

Ad Rutschman has gained the most yardage rushing—1,076 yards in eight games, followed by Leo Lewis of Lincoln U. Mo. with 1,036 yards in seven contests.

Halfback Mac Moore of Sam Houston State and end Jim Ladd of Bowling Green share the pass catching laurels with 33 receptions scoring pass receiver with ten touchdowns, needs one more TD via the air lanes to tie the all-time small college record of 11. Colorado Western State's Virgil a .333 average. The Lyons Wilson played 23 games, collected 34 hits in 83 times at bat for a .409 mark.

Green Ridge Beats T&C By 63 to 54

Green Ridge proved the stiffest competition yet this season for the Town and Country Sportsmen Thursday night, defeating the Sedalia 63 to 54 after leading almost all the way.

T&C held a first quarter advantage, but from early in the second canto the Green Ridge team was ahead, largely because they had several boys who could find the bucket regularly. Huddleston hit 16, Don Brown 19, Stump 11 and Dale Brown 9.

For the Sportsmen, who have now won 4 and lost 4, Miller was high man with 23 points and Murphy had 14.

Crown Bout Set

For St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Archie Moore, 36-year-old contender for the light-heavyweight crown since the days of Gus Lesnevich, finally gets a crack at it in a battle against champion Joey Maxim Dec. 17.

Contracts for the nationally televised bout were signed yesterday by managers of both fighters—Jack Kearns for the champ and Charley Johnston for Moore.

Jim Norris, president, and Truman Gibson, executive secretary, represented the International Boxing Club, Emory Jones and George Carson, the arena, site of the bout, and Charley Pian, the Missouri Athletic Commission.

Kearns said Maxim was guaranteed 45 per cent of the net gate and Moore, St. Louis, who has been seeking such a fight since about 1939, is to receive from 10 to 20 per cent. The split of the television receipts is undecided.

Officials believe the bout will have to draw a $100,000 gate to be successful financially. The last championship go held here—featherweights Willie Pep and Charley Riley—brought in $56,905 in 1951. Receipts for the December affair range from $2.50 to $20. If all 18,000 seats are taken it will bring in $175,000.

A family in the country has a new stock dog which it is training. Members have a feeling he is learning a bit too fast.

They had been trying to teach him to bring the cows up from the pasture at milking time — and along about two o'clock in the morning he got to thinking about it and was real pleased with himself to think he remembered — how proud the family would be of him.

So away he scampered to the pasture, rounded up the cows and took them up to the barn. Then he went to the door and scratched.

"People are funny," thinks the little stock dog — here the very thing the farmer has been wanting him to do all the time and now that he had done the job so well — got all the cows up and scratched on the door to let him know that they were ready to milk — he wasn't a bit happy over it — in fact he was in a very bad humor.

What did the man do but take the cows all back to the pasture — and went on back in the house and a disappointed little dog went back to his bed and went to sleep.

For months now the nine-year-old boy had had a crew haircut — nothing else would do but a crew cut — but suddenly he decided to let his hair grow and mother finds it quite a mess. She can't get it to stay any way and it simply refuses to part. Nevertheless, the boy insists on it growing out just as much as he insisted on the crew cut in the first place.

Then — there is chat on the school house grounds and his shoes are white with it — so twice a day he polishes his shoes.

"What would you say, daddy," said the mother to her husband, "Is causing our son to want his crew cut to grow out and to polish

War, Europe, Korea Among Many Problems Facing Ike

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright 1952 By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — Here are some of the chief problems facing President Eisenhower and the way he is likely to deal with them.

WAR — Despite campaign charges that Eisenhower would lead us into war, this is probably less likely than with the average president. First, Gen. Eisenhower's mother was a Jehovah's Witness, a religious sect persecuted for its hatred of war. Second, the campaign accusations will make him lean over backward against war.

Third, Eisenhower, a military man, insists on being able to crack down on the rash of irresponsible statements by generals and admirals suggesting a preventive war. These have given our allies the jitters and supplied the Moscow radio with heaven-sent propaganda.

EUROPE — Eisenhower will tend to put less emphasis on Europe without actually hanging plans for North Atlantic defense. Arms to Europe may be slowed up and used in Korea instead. This will be necessary if South Korean troops are to be equipped at a faster pace. Hitherto, Ike, as head of NATO, wanted more arms for Europe, while Van Fleet and Ridgway wanted more arms for Korea.

Speaking of this danger he once told me: "I refuse to think of having American boys get bogged down in the human morass of the Chinese mainland."

CONTROLS — They will be dropped when they expire in June, possibly before. This will mean the end of price, wage, rent, material controls. There will be two reasons for their demise: 1. A conservative Congress will demand it; 2. Slackening defense production will not his shoes twice a day — could it be a girl?"

From over in the corner came the boy's answer: "Not one girl — all the girls are crazy about me."

— H. L.

Now Eisenhower as Commander-in-Chief can make the final decision, and the decision will be to Korea — for two reasons: 1. his campaign pledges on Korea, 2. Ike got a bit fed up with the French and Europeans generally while at NATO.

Korea — Inside fact is that Eisenhower was given the same secret Korean intelligence summary that was laid on the President's desk every week, so he knows the terrific difficulties of bringing about a truce.

These indicate that the Chinese are likely to stiffen their demands when Eisenhower arrives in Korea, because they will know he has to go home with some kind of result. His alternatives will be to yield on prisoners-of-war and abandon them in Communist camps, or order a naval-air war against the Chinese mainland. The latter could touch off a general war, and it isn't likely that Eisenhower, who wants peace, will take that chance.

GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSIONS — Eisenhower can and will remove all cabinet, sub-cabinet, and political posts, but he cannot change the vital quasi-judicial commissions, except gradually. These have supreme powers over radio, television, railroad, telephone, telephone rates, bus lines, water power, natural gas transmission, advertising, and the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. FDR tried to change these commissions, but ran squarely into the supreme court. So Ike will have to wait for gradual changes when the terms of commissioners expire.

Election Aftermath

During the campaign Ike had two bodyguards. They had to keep on the job 24 hours a day, but finally got some rest at 1 a. m. Wednesday when relieved by thirty Secret Service men.

Tears welled up in Senator Kefauver's eyes when he heard the decisive results coming over the airwaves.

Tuesday night the Democrats tried to counteract the mounting gloom at their headquarters by throwing open the free bar an hour ahead of schedule.

At Republican headquarters election night half the crowd was chanting "We Want Ike!" while the other half chanted "We've Got Ike!"

Supreme Court Justice Bill Douglas sat in with Democratic Chairman Steve Mitchell when he talked by phone to Stevenson about conceding the election.

Ladies of the Democratic Women's Division in Washington locked themselves in India Edwards' room at Stevenson's residence, and wept copiously.

TV audiences kept wondering why Stevenson's speeches ran overtime and had to be cut off before he finished — especially his important elective — eve address. Answer to that was that Stevenson read his reading pace, sometimes reading several pages at 60 words per minute and then suddenly speeding up to 130 words.

make controls necessary. This will eliminate the controversial Wage Stabilization Board which both industry and labor have flouted.

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK — The Wall Street Journal echoes the views of some business leaders that Ike's headaches will not be so much from inflation as deflation. This is because the mobilization program has reached top speed and is bound to taper off. Any slowing down of foreign aid will also slow down production at home.

THE BUDGET — With Ike committed to both strong defense and pruning the budget, his cuts will have to come by eliminating waste in the armed services. For the armed services comprise the great preponderance of the national budget. He can eliminate waste chiefly by cutting out duplicating branches of the services — such as big battleships and airplane carriers that are considered too expensive for the firepower they carry. This is bound to touch off a verbal shooting war between the Army, Navy, and Air Force.

RED HUNTING — The search for Communists will not change much, except that the noise will shift. Eisenhower will continue to depend on J. Edgar Hoover and the Loyalty Board, but McCarthy will be in a difficult position, since any hard-and-soft by him will reflect on his own administration. As a result, re-elected Congressman Martin Dies of Texas, who started the search many years before McCarthy and did a fairer job, will probably take the limelight.

CLEANING OUT WASHINGTON — Eisenhower's biggest shot-in-the-arm to government can be in bringing in new blood at the top. Actually, of the 2,572,300 civilian employees, 93 per cent are under Civil Service and cannot be fired, while another 6 per cent are under the Merit System, such as scientists on the Atomic Energy Commission.

President would not want to fire them. This leaves approximately 1 per cent which can be changed. However, if enough new blood and energy is injected at the top, even through only the 1 per cent, it can electrify government. Getting good men dedicated to government will be one of Eisenhower's problems.

GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSIONS — Eisenhower can and will remove all cabinet, sub-cabinet, and political posts, but he cannot change the vital quasi-judicial commissions, except gradually. These have supreme powers over radio, television, railroad, telephone, telephone rates, bus lines, water power, natural gas transmission, advertising, and the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. Murder she yelled

By Joseph Shoffit

THE STORY: Al Kemmer, owner of High Hill Lodge, has been murdered and Eddie Fields, an entertainer, has been seriously wounded in an attack by someone who wielded an ax. The violence somehow seems connected with the discovery of a gangland murder in the vicinity. Police search cabins at the summer resort, but miss the house where Eddie and Kemmer's bodies were found.

PLANTED in this wilderness were a few unsociable houses. You stumbled into them. Trees, brush, vines, and suddenly a clearing and a house.

I went around the eastern end of the lake—I was presumably moving in along the north shore. I couldn't see the sun to check my directions for sure. I walked around haphazardly. I wondered how Griscomb ever found his way home. No signs or trails. But he had a dog. Of course. That explained everything. The big dog was there to lead him home. And when Griscomb got tired, he rode it.

There was a man. He was pushing through the woods about 25 yards away from me. He was going in the opposite direction. He seemed just as startled as I was. But not so happy.

He was wearing a blue serge suit, all buttoned up, looking like a grocer on Sunday. His hat, though, was pretty battered. His features were thick, his cheeks too flushed and oily for good health. "I'm afraid I'm a little lost," I said. "I'm from High Hill."

His eyes sneaked over me quickly, top to bottom. He was as pleased as a housewife discovering crawling things behind the drain-board. "You're a long way off the road," he said. His voice was heavy, half anxious, half threatening.

"I sure am," I said.

"Don't you know this is private property?" he said.

"It is?" I said innocently. "I didn't notice any signs."

"There are signs all over," he said, getting tougher. This guy had looked things over. There was a state trooper standing guard at the start of the driveway. Another one was in a car parked within view of the lake—he'd see anybody taking off in a canoe.

FOUND Sergeant Healey in Al's swivel chair, going through the papers in the big desk. Corporal Dillon was working on the top of the safe with his fingerprint kit. "Found anything interesting?" I said cheerily.

"Why do you come in here chipping at a canary?"

"What's the trouble, Healey?"

"No prints on the ax. Couldn't find a smudge, even."

"Must have been gloves," Corporal Dillon said, not looking up from the safe.

I sat down on the chair near the door, noticing I was a little sore in the right hip, in addition to everything else.

"There's one thing we ought to do before we knock off. We ought to go pay a call on G. O. Griscomb."

Healey's pale blue eyes drifted wearily up at me. "Didn't we already cover that, Morrison?"

"Okay, I'll visit him myself," I said.

"Better invite him to visit you. I don't want anybody leaving the grounds. Not till I say so."

"You're a hard man, Healey."

I went out on the steps and looked things over. There was a state trooper standing guard at the start of the driveway. Another one was in a car parked within view of the lake—he'd see anybody taking off in a canoe.

He moved away. "Hey!" I called after him. "Which way to Griscomb's place?"

I slid behind a tree. Blue Serge got his back against a wooden column so the dog couldn't nuzzle him from behind. I saw Blue Serge pull something from his pocket. An envelope—he opened it—he put things in Griscomb's hand. It was so abrupt, it took me a long moment to realize I was seeing some sort of payoff.

The contents went back into the envelope, into Griscomb's breast pocket.

Now Blue Serge was talking. His head was jerking toward the woods. Griscomb looked over the man's shoulder—his eyes swept the rim of trees.

Griscomb reached for something against the wall, walked out to the edge of the porch.

A rifle.

Looking Backward

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since he moves into the White House Jan. 20, Gen. Eisenhower has a little over 2½ months to get ready for the presidency.

One of his first and most ticklish problems is naming the right men for key government jobs, such as the secretary of state and the secretary of defense, who will be members of his Cabinet.

He'll have to rely on them for guidance in the years ahead. And he knows, without reading any more history than that of the past four years, how much damage a poor selection can do his administration.

Because they've won control of both Congress and the executive branch of the government, the Republicans will be able to name people to a lot of jobs.

There are two main kinds of jobs which the President can fill by appointment.

In one kind he can appoint a man for a certain number of years, fixed by law; in the other kind the jobs are "at the pleasure of the president," meaning the president can give them and take them away when he pleases.

A White House researcher said there are about 660 jobs "at the pleasure of the president." They include the very top government posts and can be broken down into about six categories:

1. Heads and assistant heads of departments. In this group are the Cabinet members—the secretaries of all the departments—and their undersecretaries and assistant secretaries.

2. Others in the departments. They include the general counsels of each department (each department has a staff of lawyers and the general counsel is top lawyer).

No. 2 also includes ambassadors and ministers, and such jobs as director of geological survey, commissioner of reclamation, commissioner of Indian affairs, director of the Bureau of Mines.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since he moves into the White House Jan. 20, Gen. Eisenhower has a little over 2½ months to get ready for the presidency.

One of his first and most ticklish problems is naming the right men for key government jobs, such as the secretary of state and the secretary of defense, who will be members of his Cabinet.

He'll have to rely on them for guidance in the years ahead. And he knows, without reading any more history than that of the past four years, how much damage a poor selection can do his administration.

Because they've won control of both Congress and the executive branch of the government, the Republicans will be able to name people to a lot of jobs.

There are two main kinds of jobs which the President can fill by appointment.

In one kind he can appoint a man for a certain number of years, fixed by law; in the other kind the jobs are "at the pleasure of the president," meaning the president can give them and take them away when he pleases.

A White House researcher said there are about 660 jobs "at the pleasure of the president." They include the very top government posts and can be broken down into about six categories:

1. Heads and assistant heads of departments. In this group are the Cabinet members—the secretaries of all the departments—and their undersecretaries and assistant secretaries.

2. Others in the departments. They include the general counsels of each department (each department has a staff of lawyers and the general counsel is top lawyer).

No. 2 also includes ambassadors and ministers, and such jobs as director of geological survey, commissioner of reclamation, commissioner of Indian affairs, director of the Bureau of Mines.

Trash Fires Taboo For Tipton Drought

TIPTON — Mayor J. B. Brant and Aldermen E. G. Crawford, D. C. Bixler, Nelson Stonner and Albert Wolf are coinciding with Gov. Smith's proclamation by asking the citizenry here to abandon hunting, fishing or starting trash fires unless in proper containers, the ban to be in effect as long as the weather remains dry.

Husband Gets Doused

DALLAS, Tex. (U.P.)—This is the story a young Dallas woman told police after tossing a pan of scalding water on her husband.

"Several times lately he's made me stop my housework and stand on my head right in the middle of the floor. I got to thinking about this morning and got so mad I threw the first thing I could find right at him."

The hubby was hospitalized but declined to press charges.

US Bomber Crashes

DUNMOW England (U.P.)—A U. S. Air Force B50 Strato bomber with a crew of 11 crashed and burned here just before midnight last night. An Air Force spokesman said no survivors have been found. The plane was on a training flight from a base at Upper Heyford, about 40 miles from here. Firemen braved exploding ammunition and roaring flames from the plane's gasoline to drag out seven bodies.

The Air Force declined to disclose the bomber's group number or home base in America until the next of kin of the dead had been notified.

9-Year-Old Awaits Murder Proceedings

NEWPORT, Eng. (U.P.)—An 9½-year-old boy charged with murdering his 17-year-old brother was held in a special police home today to await further court proceedings.

At a preliminary hearing yesterday, police said the baby apparently had been hit on the head with a bottle while he was lying in his cot. Under British law, names of juveniles appearing in court are not made public.

Refugee Kills Himself After Lover Quarrel

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A refugee student from Austria, upset after a lovers' quarrel with his young American fiancée, committed suicide late yesterday by eating poisoned cookies, a city detective says.

The student, 27-year-old Heinz Berger, killed himself in a University of Texas science laboratory.

His body was found slumped in a chair by his fiancée, Miss Elizabeth Tracht, 22.

Berger and the 21-year-old Tracht were to have been married next week.

After they quarreled yesterday afternoon in Berger's laboratory, Miss Tracht went to another lab to continue her own experiments.

She returned an hour later with another cookie to see her fiancée again. His door was locked and the building superintendent was called.

Detective Merle Wells said Berger, described by professors as "very brilliant," had smeared cyanide on cookies and ate them.

He was working for a doctor's degree in bacteriology.

Miss Tracht was hospitalized for shock soon after the body was found. A justice of the peace returned a verdict of suicide.

Cause of the lovers' quarrel was not learned.

THEY DIDN'T HEAR A WORD SHE SAID—Members of the crew of the Canadian minesweeper "New Liskard," on liberty in New York, are supposedly listening to a lecture on points of interest to be found at the new United Nations General Assembly building. However, the sailors seem to find the main point of interest to be Mrs. Nina Minnes, 29, their UN guide. The pretty, French-born guide is one of 15 young women who shepherd curious crowds through the building.

Ike May Have Demo Congress In Mid-Term

WASHINGTON (AP)—Statistics of almost 100 years confront President-elect Eisenhower today with the bleak possibility of having a Democratic Congress in mid-term.

There will be a congressional election two years hence, with all 435 House and 32 Senate seats at stake.

With only one exception, the dominant party in Congress has lost seats in "off-year" elections since 1858. The exception was in 1934 when Democrats boosted their margin in the House from 313 to 322 and in the Senate from 59 to 69. That was in the middle of Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term.

In 1946 President Truman saw the Democrats lose enough seats to drop control of both the Senate and the House.

Republicans will be in control of both the Senate and the House in the 83rd Congress, which starts its two-year term on Jan. 3.

But their margin of numerical superiority is so slim in both branches that they cannot afford to lose many seats in the 1954 mid-term election.

On the basis of last Tuesday's voting, Republicans will have 48 seats in the Senate, not including Stevenson-backed Wayne Morse of Oregon, and 220 or perhaps a few more in the House. A majority of the Senate is 49, which the Republicans will have if Morse votes with them in organizing the body.

If Morse sides with the Democrats, the resulting 48-48 tie can be broken by Vice President-elect Richard Nixon. A majority of the House is 218.

Off-year election losses of parties in control of Congress have been much heavier than that. Except for 1934, the losses have occurred in the House every off-year, and in the Senate in almost every such year.

Soviets Lead World In Subs, Says Book

LONDON (AP)—Britain's authoritative naval yearbook, Jane's Fighting Ships, says the Soviet Union's submarine fleet still is by far the world's largest although it appears to be the same size as a year ago.

The 1952-53 yearbook, published yesterday, reported the same number of Russian undersea craft as in its last edition—370 afloat and 120 others being built. Jane's acknowledged, however, that Soviet military security limited the exactness of the information.

Jane's reported the U. S. Navy's "colossal fighting force" is the largest peacetime fleet ever maintained by any country—as big as all the other navies of the world combined.

The U. S. submarine force of 200 ships, however, was greatly outclassed by the Russians. Britain's subs were listed at about 50.

Late 'Chute Jump Fatal to Pilot

OCEANA, Va. (AP)—A too-late parachute jump from his flaming jet fighter claimed the life yesterday of the former commander of the first jet squadron to tackle the enemy in Korea.

Comdr. Albert D. Pollock Jr., 37, stationed at Patuxent, Md., was killed when he parachuted from his wing-swept F9F6 "Cougar" jet.

A test pilot for evaluation projects at the naval air test center at Patuxent, Pollock had just left the 45,000-ton aircraft carrier Coral Sea when he radioed that one of his two engines had blown some turbine blades and he would land here.

Pollock, formerly of Twin Falls, Idaho, and Orcutt, Calif., was over the field when flames licked out of his plane. The fighter went out of control and crashed with Pollock leaving the craft too late for his chute to open.

Future of Internal Security Sub-Committee Now In Doubt

WASHINGTON (AP)—A big question mark hung over the future of the Senate's internal security subcommittee today in an ironic twist to the Republican election victory.

In the last two years, under the chairmanship of Democratic Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, the subcommittee has supplanted the House Un-American Activities Committee as the chief congressional group probing for Communist influences in and out of government.

A unit of the Senate Judiciary Committee, of which McCarran also is chairman, the subcommittee has a number of investigations under way now. One of these is a hunt for any American Communists working for the United Nations.

Republican control of the Senate will knock McCarran out of his Judiciary Committee chairmanship, and the outlook is that his successor will be Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.).

Langer was among the small band of senators who fought two years ago in a dramatic all-night session to uphold President Truman's veto of the Internal Security Act sponsored by McCarran. During the night Langer collapsed and had to be carried from the Senate chamber on a stretcher.

After enactment of the law, the internal security subcommittee was set up in December, 1950, to police its enforcement. It also was given broad power to investigate the espionage and subversive activities generally.

Its authority will expire on Dec. 31, however, and it is doubtful whether Langer, as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, would seek to have it extended.

Even if the subcommittee were given a new lease on life, Langer would be in a position to change its whole complexion—since the chairman appoints the members. He probably could key it to a minor role at the most.

Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin is the top Republican on the Judiciary Committee but he also outranks all his GOP colleagues on the Foreign Relations Committee and has made plain he intends to lay claim to the chairmanship of that group.

Since a senator cannot be chairman of two regular legislative committees, Langer is in position as the number two Republican on the Judiciary Committee to step in as chairman.

Committee chairmanships are based on length of service and this seniority custom is rigidly adhered to.

Republican leaders no doubt would be only too happy to devise some way to prevent Langer from getting the Judiciary Committee post, however, partly because he supported President Truman's campaign trip through North Dakota and introduced him in glowing terms.

Conversely, McCarran helped the Republicans win their thin margin in the Senate by throwing his support to the re-election of Sen. George W. Malone of Nevada, a Republican who defeated the Democratic candidate nominated over McCarran's opposition.

About half of all the legislation that goes through the Senate is handled by the Judiciary Committee. It also passes on the nominations of all federal judges and U. S. marshals.

Should the internal security subcommittee die or become dormant under a Langer-directed Judiciary Committee, its work and much of its staff might be taken over by the Governmental Operations Committee.

This group also has broad powers of investigation and Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) is in line for the chairmanship.

Ike May Skip Japan On Trip To Korean Front

TOKYO (AP)—Diplomatic and Army sources speculated today that President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower might skip Japan on his forthcoming visit to Korea and fly direct from Okinawa or Wake Island to Seoul.

They suggested two reasons why he might bypass Japan: 1. Protocol would require that he call on Emperor Hirohito.

2. Security measures would be simplified if he did not stop in Japan.

The question of jet fighter cover to protect his plane on the trip from Japan to Korea also is a factor.

Army headquarters said no direct word on the Eisenhower visit had been received from Washington. But a decision is expected within two weeks.

AP Correspondent Robert B. Tuckman reported from Korea that American fighting men were looking forward to the Eisenhower visit.

Tuckman said they hope the general will do something about getting them home sooner, either by lowering the 36 points required for rotation or by putting more South Korean troops in the line.

The fighting men anticipated Eisenhower would spend a lot of time with South Korean troops studying their training program. He also is expected to visit President Syngman Rhee.

Write-In Candidate Doesn't Get a Vote; He Predicted Ike Win

BALTIMORE (AP)—Stephen B. Peddicord, self-styled write-in candidate for the U. S. Senate in Maryland, made two predictions two weeks before election.

1. He said GOP presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower would carry 40 states, only one more than he actually did.

2. The Baltimore electrician also predicted that he, himself, also would sweep the Senate race in Maryland, winning by 100,000 votes.

The complete but unofficial results failed to turn up a single ballot for Peddicord as of today.

Uranium Is Found On Canadian Isle

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—A uranium strike of "more than passing interest" had been made on a group of Northwestern Ontario islands that Indian legends describe as cursed. Tribal lore says they light up during electrical storms.

The find on the Manitou Islands at the eastern end of Lake Nipissing was announced last night by Province Mines Minister Philip T. Kelly. Samples tested after several months of Geiger counter surveys ran as high as 11-100ths of one per cent uranium.

The Manitous are a group of five islands totaling about 400 acres.

She Wants $1,245 Monthly of Hubby's Pay; He'll Get $400

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Rosemary Lane was in court yesterday asking for $1,245.98 a month support for herself and daughter, Susan Bridget. She declared her husband, makeup artist Bud Westmore, needs only $400 a month.

Westmore testified he has turned over his paychecks to his wife for the last 10 years and that she gave him an allowance. "Last year it was $15 a week," he said.

His lawyer told the court Westmore earns only $1,300 a month. Superior Judge Mildred Lille continued the case until Dec. 4 and advised the couple to try to reach an agreement with the aid of a marriage counselor.

Indian legends tell of braves who made war paint from a red oxide found there and later died of bone disease.

Hiss Has Formally Asked for Parole

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department says Alger Hiss has formally applied for parole from the Lewisburg, Pa., Federal Penitentiary.

Hiss, a former State Department employee, was convicted of perjury in 1950 in denying he gave secret documents to a Communist courier and began serving a five-year term in March, 1951. He becomes eligible for parole Nov. 21, when he will have completed one-third of his time in prison.

The five-man parole board will hold a hearing next week, possibly Wednesday. If Hiss' application is approved, he could leave prison Nov. 21.

Winter Returns To Korea

First Snow Falls Over Front; Cold Slows Most Action

SEOUL, Korea, Friday, Nov. 6.—The season's first snow, a whiff of the bone-chilling Korean winter to come, sifted down on the tense battlefield today.

The light fall began just before dawn as two platoons of Chinese—50 to 80 men—stabbed at South Korean positions between the shell-ripped heights of Triangle Hill and Sniper Ridge on the Central Front.

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported 54 U. N. big guns opened up on the Reds as they started their attack and that 144 grenades laid down a barrage on their withdrawal route, probably cutting the Red attack to pieces.

The clash was over in an hour. Action elsewhere on the 155-mile front was even lighter.

The snowfall grew heavier as the morning wore on, but left only a light coating on the ground.

An unusual quiet in the ground fighting settled down Thursday after Allied commanders ordered courageous South Korean infantrymen to halt their costly attacks against dug-in Reds on Triangle Hill.

Thursday's calm was broken only by a futile charge up Sniper Ridge by 150 to 175 Chinese Reds. A storm of artillery fire broke up the attack.

Ground action slows two days has been small stuff, compared with the great battles of October and early November.

But sky fights broke out over North Korea Thursday after a relative calm in that department. U. S. Sabre pilots claimed one Red MIG-15 jets destroyed and 11 shot up in furious dogfights.

For the first time since Sunday, Sabrejet pilots were able to mark up destruction and damage claims in their ceaseless patrol along the Manchurian border, behind which the MIG jets are based.

In the first, 14 Sabres took on 27 MIGs. Pilots reported one MIG destroyed and four others damaged before the last MIG streaked home—ward. Pilots made three other damage claims, but these were not confirmed at once.

Later in the day, 28 Sabres prowling MIG Alley near the border engaged more than a score of MIGs in two battles. Pilots claimed four MIGs damaged but these also were unconfirmed immediately.

Allied losses, if any, are announced weekly.

On the ground, a Chinese company attacked Pinpoint Hill, crest of Sniper Ridge, Thursday night after bombarding South Korean positions for 20 minutes with artillery and mortars.

Artillery Stops Reds The Reds charged through their own artillery to within 50 yards of ROK positions where they were stopped by accurate Allied artillery. The remnants withdrew after about 25 minutes.

Allied fighter-bombers struck at bridges in North Korea and claimed 28 hits on five rail bridges near Sinanju. Two spans were reported destroyed on one bridge and a span on another was damaged.

U. S. Marine fighter-bombers attacked a Communist vehicle repair park. Pilots said 14 occupied buildings were destroyed. Three fires blazed in the park area.

Other Allied warplanes hit troops concentrations and front line enemy positions.

India Seeks Solution To Korea Peace Tieup

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 6.—(P)—An Indian source said today India is seeking agreement to Red China on a new plan to solve the bitter prisoner of war dispute and open the way for a cease fire in Korea.

The source said India has been sounding out the Communist government in Peking on the plan. If the Chinese accept the idea, he added, India will place it before the United Nations.

Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, chairman of the delegation, told a reporter India had been working on the problem eight months. The Indian government has a diplomatic mission in Peking.

Katy Abolishes Post Of Board Chairman

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6.—(P)—The Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railway Company directors voted today to abolish the post of chairman of the board and assigned those duties to President Donald V. Fraser.

The board also named J. T. Mahoney, now vice president of accounting and finance, to the newly created job of executive vice president.

The office of chairman of the board was left vacant by the death of Raymond J. Morfa Oct. 19 at Dennison, Tex.

At Least 5 Die In Crash Of B-50 In England

DUNMOW, Eng., Friday, Nov. 7.—(P)—A U. S. Air Force B-50 Strato-bomber crashed and burned in a field near here last night. Firemen recovered bodies of five of the 10 crew members from the blazing plane.

Unconfirmed reports said two other crew members had bailed out.

Few Select Gen. M'Arthur On Big Ballot

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(P)—A hopeless last-ditch effort to elect Gen. Douglas MacArthur president fizzled in the boom of the Eisenhower victory.

He got fewer than 10,000 votes in three states which had tabulated MacArthur ballots today. A few others still are to be heard from, but it was clear that his bitter-end supporters couldn't influence the final results.

There was no indication that the former Far East commander gave either consent or approval to the campaign in his behalf. As long ago as last July he declared: "I will take no part in the campaign."

"I will not be a part of the political picture," he had just become chairman of Remington-Rand Inc., at the time.

Before the Chicago convention, MacArthur backed Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the Republican presidential nomination.

He ran With Tenney MacArthur's name, with that of Jack B. Tenney of California as his running mate, appeared on the Christian Nationalist ticket in Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, North Dakota and Washington, and could be written in by California voters.

He was listed in California and Texas as also the candidate of the Constitution Party. Write-in votes showed up from a couple of other states.

The MacArthur tally to date: Arkansas—169. Texas—3,502 total. 1,990 on Constitution ticket, 1,512 Christian Nationalist.

Washington—5,479. Missouri—MacArthur vote not available until official canvass in three weeks.

North Dakota—Untabulated. Couldn't affect state outcome, with vote running nearly 3 to 1 for Eisenhower.

California—MacArthur write-in vote still unaccounted in most counties.

Tennessee—MacArthur votes, which appeared in only scattering of counties, not tabulated in unofficial count.

New Mexico—MacArthur figure not available until official vote count.

MacArthur's only comment on the election, relayed through an aide, was that he was "delighted at the sweeping Republican victory."

He made no direct mention of the winner, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, his former aide.

Mrs. Henley Still III Mrs. Hattie Henley, route 2, who suffered a heart attack Sunday, is still very ill.

Rep. Sabath Of Illinois Dies, Member Of House Since 1904

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(P)—Death came early today to the career of Rep. Adolph J. Sabath, who served a longer unbroken tenure in Congress than any other man in U. S. history. He was 86 and a Democrat.

Sabath entered the House on March 4, 1907, and on Tuesday had won a two-to-one victory for reelection to what would have been his 24th two-year term. His district was in the heart of Chicago.

A stocky, bouncy little man, he was an ardent backer of the Roosevelt Deal and Truman Fair Deal. He was universally liked in the House, and his speeches almost invariably were applauded by Democrats and Republicans alike.

He came To US At 15 "The judge"—as he was known in the House—was an immigrant boy who saved pennies earned as a sawmill worker in his native Bohemia, now Czechoslovakia, and came to this country at the age of 15.

He worked successively as salesman, cashier, bookkeeper and real

US Backs Blockade Of Korea

Russia To Receive Formal Rejection Of Latest Protest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(P)—The United States firmly supported today Gen. Mark Clark's creation of a sea defense zone in Korean waters and spurned a Russian protest against it.

The State Department will send a note to Moscow formally rejecting the Soviet protest. For the moment, the American attitude was disclosed informally by department Press Officer Michael McDermott.

The Kremlin objection was set forth in a note received in Washington Tuesday and translated and studied by officials yesterday. It followed an announcement by Gen. Clark, the United Nations commander in Korea, on Sept. 27 about the establishment of the sea defense zone.

US Terms It Propaganda Whether the Russians thought the U. N. patrol operations within the zone might hamper maritime activities of their own or whether they were merely registering propaganda protests was not indicated by their note. But the State Department asserted that the complaint was essentially a propaganda maneuver.

McDermott described it as one of a "seemingly endless series of messages maliciously designed to deceive people into believing that legitimate counter measures to acts of aggression are themselves 'new acts of aggression.'"

McDermott recalled that on Sept. 2, Gen. Clark in announcing the new defense zone "set forth the reasons for his action." He described Clark's reasons as being to prevent attacks on the South Korean coast, to secure his lines of communication and to prevent the smuggling of contraband and enemy agents into South Korean territory. Clark emphasized particularly the need to prevent enemy agents from reaching prisoner of war camps set up on Korean islands. Various bloody prisoner uprisings are reported to have been traced to instructions delivered to the camps by such agents.

'A New Act Of Aggression' Russia accused the United States of instigating an illegal blockade in Korean waters. It said Clark's order was "a new act of aggression States government is not only unwilling to stop the war in Korea but is following the path of new acts of aggression," McDermott retorted that the Russians were trying "to deceive people" and declared that a reply would be made to the Soviet note "in due course."

Engineer Strike Keeps Many Planes On Ground NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(P)—A strike of 300 AFL flight engineers grounded United Airlines' biggest planes by the dozen today.

Thirty-six flights were cancelled within a few hours at La Guardia and Idlewild fields alone. Also affected were Chicago, Denver, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Windsor Locks, Conn., and Honolulu.

Only United's biggest ships, DC-6's and strato-cruisers, were caught in the tieup. Its smaller ones do not carry engineers.

The AFL Flight Engineers Association struck last yesterday after a 10 months deadlock with the union over wages and working conditions.

Iowa Delays Pheasant Season DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 6.—(P)—Due to drier dry conditions throughout the state, the Iowa Conservation Commission today postponed for one week the scheduled Nov. 11 opening of the Iowa pheasant season.

Falstaff To Expand ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6.—(P)—The Falstaff Brewing Corp., announced today the purchase of brewing and malting properties of the Pacific Brewing and Malting Corp., of San Jose, Calif.

Smithton Man Hurt By A Runaway Team John Yeager, Smithton, suffered fractures of the arm, leg and ribs Thursday when a bolting team of mules pulled a heavy farm wagon over him.

According to Dr. Pete Seigel, who treated him, the accident occurred while Yeager was picking corn. The team broke and in the chase Yeager fell and the wagon was pulled over him.

Dr. Seigel treated the injured man at Bothwell Hospital.

Baker Holds Meeting On The Nov. 11 Parade Ralph Baker, chairman of the Armistice Day Parade committee, held a meeting at the Sedalia Police Station Thursday night to consolidate plans for the event.

Baker announced that he had received promises from five saddle clubs, a group representing all veterans organizations in Green Ridge and from several civic groups in Sedalia to join the numerous veterans groups here in the parade.

Further plans for the parade will be announced Sunday.

Nobel Group Gives Award To 2 From US

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 6.—(P)—Two American atomic scientists won the Nobel Prize in physics today in the final roster of the 1952 awards. Two Britons shared the award in chemistry and the literature prize went to a Frenchman.

The winners: Physics—Dr. Felix Bloch, 47, of Stanford University and Dr. Edward Mills Purcell, 40, of Harvard University for their development of a new method for measuring magnetic fields in atomic nuclei.

Chemistry—Dr. Archer Martin, 42, National Institute for Medical Research, London, and Dr. Richard Synge, 38, of Rowett Research Institute, Aberdeen, Scotland, for their discovery of partition chromatography—an ingenious method for separating compounds.

Literature—Francis Mauriac, 67, of French Catholic author, for the "penetrating psychology and artistic intensity with which he, in the form of the novel, has interpreted the drama of human life."

Dr. Selman A. Waksman, 64, Russian-born American scientist of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J., was awarded the prize in Medicine Oct. 23 for his work in the discovery of the antibiotic streptomycin.

Dr. Bloch and Dr. Purcell developed independently of each other their prize-winning method of measuring magnetic fields in atomic nuclei. They joined the ranks of nine previous American winners in the science of physics.

Their technique, known as the nuclear induction method, enables atomic scientists to increase a thousandfold the precision of measurements of fundamental importance to study of the structure of atomic nuclei.

59-Year-Old Drabs 75-Year Jail Term EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., Nov. 6.—(P)—Daniel Hendy Sr., 59, today was sentenced to serve 75 years in the Illinois state penitentiary for the rifle slaying of his brother last April.

Hendy, who had pleaded guilty to the crime Sept. 19, gave no show of emotion when he was sentenced by Circuit Judge William G. Juergens.

Hendy was jointly indicted with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Eva Ruth Hendy, for the beating in Patrick Hendy's Alton home. Mrs. Hendy was acquitted by a jury of the murder charge on Oct. 17 after a two-week trial here.

State's Attorney Austin Lewis made no recommendation for a specific sentence but said he did not believe the case warranted the death penalty. A one-hour hearing was held before Judge Juergens passed sentence.

Crossroads Comment By G. H. S. How sore can a fellow get? MacArthur still doesn't have a pleasant word for Eisenhower!

With all due regard to so-called modern safe-flying conditions, many Americans today might feel a lot easier if President-elect Eisenhower would use some other method of transportation rather than airplanes, particularly on the proposed flight to Korea.

Seventeen thousand dollars has been raised for the Community Chest. The goal is $29,600. If it's going to be difficult to raise that amount in Sedalia for the Community Chest, we had better start devising some other means than public subscription to raise $80,000 for a new wing on Bothwell Hospital, unless some philanthropist underwrites the better part of that amount.

You can't fire me. I quit. Presidential army aide Harry Vaughan finally talks sense.

When the people of the community become fire-conscious, what happens—fewer fires. When the people become election-conscious, what happens—fewer peanut politicians.

Co-Operation Reduces Fires In State Areas

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 6.—(P)—Eleven fires in state protected forest lands burned 156 acres in Missouri today, George White, state forester said.

He attributed the relatively low destruction to co-operation of farmers, townspeople and school children in helping fight fire and increased co-operation on the part of motorists.

Wiley Seeks US Decisions On UN Policy UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 6.—(P)—Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), who is expected to become chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called today for decisions soon by the present and incoming administrations on vital policy matters affecting the United Nations.

Wiley made it clear he believes the United States would not be wise to wait until after Jan. 20, inauguration of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower for these decisions. He told a reporter the U. S.-U. N. delegation must have such a policy guidance in order to be effective at the present assembly session.

A spokesman for the U. S. delegation said it would press for a vote in the Assembly backing up the Panmunjom truce negotiators without waiting for the conference between President Truman and Eisenhower, now set for the week of Nov. 17. However, there is little likelihood any vote can be taken before that date.

Change On PW Issue Wiley said emphatically there would be no change in the U. S. stand against forced repatriation of prisoners. But he wants a fresh study of the issue so the delegation can speak with more authority in the assembly.

Wiley refused to discuss his intentions but persons familiar with his views said he would take the chairmanship of the Foreign Relations Committee in preference to a similar post in the Senate Judiciary Committee when the Republicans organize the Senate. He is the senior Republican or both committees.

Wiley said it is important Eisenhower, either personally or through his representative, contact the United Nations delegation directly or through representatives of the Truman administration and discuss the U. N. stand on these four matters:

1. No forced repatriation of prisoners in Korea. This would be part of the position on the entire question of Korea.

2. Tunis and Morocco, where the action of the U. S. government in voting to put them high on the assembly work sheet drew protests from the French government.

3. Race relations in South Africa, which the Asian-Arab bloc have denounced as threats to world peace.

4. A proposal by Wiley that Secretary-General Trygve Lie be given discretionary powers for one year to fire any member of the secretariat found to be subversive.

AEC May Be Keeping Secret The 1st Hydrogen Bomb Test WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(P)—The United States may be keeping secret an explosion of the world's first full-scale hydrogen bomb.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced early last September that a series of nuclear weapons tests would be conducted at the Eniwetok Proving Grounds during the "autumn months." Those months are nearing a close, with the probability that the tests have been completed or are approaching an end.

This year's mid-Pacific tests were generally expected to include an experiment in which a standard atomic bomb would be used to touch off quantities of hydrogen blast. Such a blast, it was figured, would be many times more powerful than a nuclear fission bomb.

All Eniwetok Tests Secret All of the Eniwetok "shots," starting with the first in 1948, have been closed to the press and public. But unusually tight restrictions were established for this year's series.

The AEC said they were to be "conducted under full security provisions of the Atomic Energy Act" and that only official observers of the government and members of Joint Task Force 12, conducting the test, would be allowed at the scene.

Although announcements have been made after previous Eniwetok tests, some in only terse form and others in more detail, this may not be done in the current series.

One source explained that the rules are set up on the basis of each series and that there could be no certainty any announcement would be forthcoming this time.

A full-scale test of a hydrogen weapon obviously might be the reason for the high degree of security imposed on the fall series, though the other explosions in the series might be of conventional although improved standard fission weapons. A hydrogen explosion involves a fusion rather than a fission of atoms.

General Accepts President's Offer For A Conference

By ROGER D. GREENE Associated Press Staff Writer President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower agreed yesterday to confer with President Truman on vital problems of world peace before flying to Korea to see what can be done about ending the Far East conflict.

It will make their first face-to-face meeting since last June 1, before the outset of the political campaign in which Truman bitterly attacked Eisenhower's bid for the presidency.

Resting on a 10-day vacation in Augusta, Ga., after his landslide victory in Tuesday's election, Eisenhower sent a message to Truman suggesting they meet early in the week beginning Nov. 17.

Truman had originally proposed the meeting along with the comment that Eisenhower's decisions in the months ahead "may determine whether we shall have a Third World War—and, indeed, whether we shall survive as a free and democratic nation."

In reply, Eisenhower said that in addition to his personal meeting with Truman he will propose that certain key advisers be "inducted" immediately in the inner processes of the government.

This could mean a sort of Republican cabinet would be on hand, at least observing the government, long before Eisenhower himself takes the oath of office as President next Jan. 20.

He'll Send Budget Emisary Along this line, Eisenhower said he planned to take immediate advantage of Truman's suggestion the general send a personal emissary to work with the budget directors of the federal budget for the 1954 fiscal year beginning next July 1.

By law, the new budget must be submitted to Congress by Jan. 18. And it must be ready for printing nearly a month before that.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who lost the GOP presidential nomination to Eisenhower, has said he and Eisenhower agree the present budget of $90 billion dollars should be trimmed to 70 billion in fiscal 1954 and further reduced to 60 billion in 1955.

Any immediate easing of the present burden on American taxpayers would depend greatly on recommendations submitted to Congress in the new budget.

Speculation centered on the name of Lewis Douglas, former U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain, as a possible choice to represent Eisenhower in the budget talks. Douglas formerly served as budget director.

Date Of Korea Trip Not Set There was still no indication from Eisenhower's vacation headquarters when the general might fly to Korea. The Republican President-elect has already informed Truman, however, he will notify the Defense Department when he proposes to leave for the war zone. He turned down Truman's offer to use the presidential plane, Independence, and said he will fly by military transport plane.

Meanwhile, talk persisted in the gloom-mantled Democratic camp of a movement to draft Gov. Adlai Stevenson again for the 1956 presidential campaign.

Immediately following his defeat, Stevenson himself had wryly discounted any such intention, quipping that a newsman who suggested he might run again should have his head examined.

Latest Returns Show Adlai Took Kentucky LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—(P)—Complete unofficial returns from Tuesday's balloting show today that Adlai E. Stevenson captured Kentucky's 10 presidential elector votes by a margin of 1,047 ballots. Tabulation of the state's 4,135 precincts gave Stevenson 494,098; Dwight D. Eisenhower 493,062.

The Republican candidate for U. S. Senator, however, won by a 27,801 vote margin.

The total from all the state's precincts gave: John Sherman Cooper (R) 491,532; Thomas R. Underwood (D) 463,731.

Exports Inspire Lively Action In Grain Trade CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(P)—A lively export trade, plus the prospect of more such activity, inspired buying in corn on the Board of Trade today. Other cereals also moved higher and even soybeans lagged most of the session, joined the upward movement shortly before the close.

Corn and oats more than made up for the losses in the previous session, but wheat, soybeans and rye did not quite get back to their pre-election levels. In many cases final prices were the day's highs. Despite the firmness, trading proceeded at a rather slow pace.

Wheat closed 3/4 to 1 1/2 cent higher, corn 3/4 to 1 1/2 cent higher, oats 3/4 to 1 1/2 cent higher, rye 1 to 1 1/4 cents higher and soybeans 3/4 to 2 cents higher.

Biggest item in the export picture was the granting of $11,250,000 to Great Britain by the Mutual Security Administration to buy American corn. That sum will buy a fairly sizeable amount of the yellow grain. West Germany bought 800,000 bushels of corn.

Export circles said Yugoslavia had purchased 1,600,000 bushels of corn so far this week and was inquiring for more.

The drought was still with traders in wheat. No moisture was forecast for the winter wheat belt for tonight or tomorrow. The official Kansas moisture report for October noted, "while the precipitation deficiency of 1952 has developed into a critical situation, it cannot yet be compared in economic consequences with previous notable dry spells."

Congress Set For A Change In Philosophy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(P)—Major changes in the dominant political philosophy as well as the complexion of Capitol Hill appear certain when the new 83rd Congress meets next Jan. 3.

It will be the result of a switch from Democratic to Republican leadership on the strength of paper-thin GOP numerical majorities—now consisting of no more than one in the Senate and possibly only two in the House.

The major effect of Tuesday's balloting on Congress, therefore, would appear to center on GOP capture of vital committee chairmanships and the legislative machinery on both sides of the Capitol.

In addition to a Republican speaker of the House and president of the Senate, arch GOP foes of "New Deal-Fair Deal" programs in almost every case are in line for capture of vital committee chairmanships and the legislative machinery on both sides of the Capitol.

South May Stick With GOP The powers thus won by the Republicans add increasing importance to the minuscule majorities by which they won them. Then, too, many Southern Democrats have often voted with the Republicans on domestic issues in the past and may continue to do so.

Late Thursday, with six districts still undecided, the GOP held control of the new House by a whisker. The Republican count stood at 220—just two more than a 218-majority of the 435 members.

The Democrats had elected 208, and were ahead in all but one of the undecided contests. One Democratic member, Rep. Adolph J. Sabath, died early today. A special election will be held in his Chicago district.

Final results from districts still in doubt may not be known for days, possibly weeks—until absentee ballots are counted or an official canvass of the vote is completed.

Democrats also were contesting the count in Virginia's newly created 10th District, now credited unofficially to the Republicans.

Can GOP Count Morse? In the Senate, Republicans held a 48-47 edge—or 49-47, if Sen. Wayne Morse is counted with the Republicans.

Morse posed a big question over GOP control of the Senate. The Oregon senator split with the Republican party in disagreement with Dwight D. Eisenhower's conduct of the campaign, and he would call himself an independent.

If Morse should go along with the Democrats on organization of the Senate, the resulting 48-48 tie could be broken by the Republicans through exercise of the vote of Republican Vice President-elect Richard M. Nixon, who becomes the Senate's presiding officer Jan. 20. Until then, any tie could be broken in behalf of the Democrats by Vice President Barkley, although it is possible the Democrats might not choose to do so for the 17 days before the inauguration. The vice president may vote in the Senate only in the event of a tie.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Leanna Rasa, Vernon L. Horn

In an impressive candlelight ceremony, Miss Leanna Rasa, daughter of Mrs. Mabel Rasa, 905 East Sixth, became the bride of Mr. Vernon L. Horn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horn, Hughesville, at 8 o'clock in the evening, October 31, at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Church in Sedalia.

The Rev. William C. Bessmer performed the single ring ceremony before an altar decorated with bouquets of gold and bronze chrysanthemums. Burning white tapers in gold candelabra illuminated the setting.

Preceding the ceremony Miss

Lillian Fox, at the organ, played Andante Con Moto from Symphony No. 5 by Schubert. She accompanied Miss Marion Smith, violinist, who played "Melodie" by Gluck-Kreisler. During the ceremony Miss Fox played "Liebestraume" by Liszt. The traditional wedding marches were used.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Leland Rasa of Marshall, the bride wore a street-length dress of moss green wool with fitted bodice and gathered skirt. Her small hat was of winter white felt trimmed with pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of gold mums tied with matching satin.

The bride's only attendant, Mrs. James Johnston, Sedalia, wore a street-length dress of champagne color with dark brown accessories. Her cascade bouquet was of bronze mums tied with matching satin.

Mr. Arnold Brownfield, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Hughesville, served as best man. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Rasa chose to wear a navy blue dress with black accessories and complemented with a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Horn, mother of the bridegroom was attired in a blue and white dress with red accessories. Her corsage was also of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for the immediate families and close friends was held in the church dining room. Covered with a white linen cloth the bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with two love birds holding mouths beneath a decorated arch.

Mrs. Melvin White cut and served the cake and Mrs. James Johnston presided over the punch bowl.

The bride is a graduate of Smith-Cotton High School and is now employed in Kansas City. She is employed in the office of Aetna Life Insurance, Kansas City. The bridegroom graduated from Hughesville High School with the class of 1945 and served in the United States Army, spending 18 months in Japan. He received his discharge in September and is now employed in Kansas City.

Upon their return they will be at home at 3119 Floral, Kansas City.

DAR Members Attend District Conference

The Southwestern District of the Missouri State Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, met at Springfield with 18 towns represented. Those from Osage Chapter, DAR, Sedalia, attending were: Miss Mamie McCormick, registrar; Mrs. L. H. Hodges, treasurer; Mrs. I. A. Leiter, historian; Mrs. C. F. Seaton, custodian of flags; Mrs. Frank S. Leichter, honorary life historian of the Missouri Society; and Mrs. W. D. O'Bannon.

The meeting was held at the South Street Christian Church, with members of the Rachel Donelson Chapter, hostesses.

Mrs. C. S. Mobley of Butler, district director, and Mrs. Andrew T. Stirt, state president, presided. Special guests were Mrs. Frederick A. Groves, vice-president general from Missouri for the National Society.

A musical program was interspersed throughout the meeting. Auditions and the luncheon was served in the church dining room, which was attractive with Hallowe'en and autumn decorations. Each state officer and regional officer was present with a corsage made of large chrysanthemums and tulips in either bronze or white. Favors were in keeping with Hallowe'en.

At the beginning of the meeting, Mrs. Seaton led the procession.

Showers Honor Recent Bride

Mrs. Vernon Horn, formerly Miss Leanna Rasa, was honored with several prenuptial showers.

On Monday evening, Oct. 20, she was given a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Alice Smith at her home in Kansas City. Guests were employees of the Aetna Life Insurance Company, where the bride is employed, and close friends.

The evening was spent in conversation and refreshments were served after the honoree opened her gifts.

Mrs. James Johnston and Mrs. Melvin E. White gave a miscellaneous shower in her honor Saturday evening, Oct. 25, at the home of Mrs. Johnston, 3191 West Sixth.

A flower girl's basket filled with pink roses and white mums centered the table and multi-colored ribbons streamers showered from the ceiling. Each guest was given a miniature-bridal and bridegroom lapel pin made from pipe cleaners. The honoree was presented a pink carnation corsage. Games were played with the awards being given to the honoree. Refreshments were served.

Invited guests were: the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Mabel Rasa, Mrs. Charles Horn, Miss Sandra Horn, Mrs. Doyle Meyers, Mrs. Arnold Brownfield, Mrs. George Burnett, Mrs. George Burnett, Mrs. E. H. Blau, Mrs. Clifford Adams, Mrs. Loy Cunningham, Miss DeAnn Rogers, Miss Carolyn Morgan, Miss JoAnn Pasley, Miss Shirley Jo Wilson, Miss Kay Brown, and Miss Marilyn Smith.

The honoree received many nice gifts at each shower.

3 Sedalians At KU

Three students from Sedalia are enrolled at the University of Kansas, Lawrence. They are: Victor P. Scott, Ralph Wayne Gregory and James Ernest Madorn.

Mrs. Vernon L. Horn who, before her marriage Friday evening to Mr. Horn, was Miss Leanna Rasa. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horn of Hughesville.

'Building Lasting Peace' Is Theme For World Community Day Observance

"Building Lasting Peace" is the theme of the World Community Day observance sponsored by the Sedalia Council of Church Women, to be held Nov. 7 at 2 p.m. at the Congregational-Methodist Church.

The observance will be a panel discussion on "Christian Foundations for Lasting Peace." Panel members and their subjects are as follows: Mrs. William Lamm, Smithton, "Builders With God"; Mrs. Luther Landis, "Christian Foundations for Human Rights"; Mrs. Charles Alden, "Christian Foundations for Peace"; Mrs. J. C. Jackson Jr., "Christian Foundations for Social Progress"; Mrs. Lee Soxman, discussion leader, "The Things Which Belong Unto Peace."

"Packets for Peace," the project of the observance, are being prepared by church groups and individuals to clothe destitute children of the world. Packets will consist of clothing for children one to six years of age and will include layettes. Eight cents per pound for processing and shipping should accompany packets.

The cash offering which will be received will be used to support two projects, education for peace and vitamins and medicines for destitute children. It will be administered by United Church Women of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

"Packets for Peace" will be sent to Church World Service, an agency of the National Council of the Churches, and will be distributed to sections of the world where the need is greatest.

United Church Women believe that today's children may build tomorrow's peace. Clean and healthy children, but not outgrown, clothing may become one of the things that belong unto peace.

Hymn of Month By Wordsworth

The Helen G. Steele Music Club, in cooperation with the National Federation of Music Clubs, gives the following review of the Hymn of the Month, "O, Lord of Heaven and Earth and Sea."

The hymn was written by Christopher Wordsworth, who was born in Lambeth, England, Oct. 30, 1807, and died in Harewood on March 20, 1885. He was a nephew of the poet Wordsworth and a son of Christopher Wordsworth, master of Trinity College, Cambridge. He was educated at Winchester and Trinity colleges and was a brilliant student, showing considerable promise as an athlete.

After serving as a lecturer of his college, public orator for the university, headmaster of the Westminster, he was made Bishop of Lincoln. Although a diligent writer, and preparing a commentary on the Bible, he was best known for his Holy Year, published in 1862.

He insisted the first duty of a hymn is to teach sound doctrine and to save souls.

Glazes Find Ozarks Even More Beautiful Than Blue Ridge Mts.

The Blue Ridge Mountains of the Southland may be interesting, but the Ozarks are by far the most beautiful, say Dr. and Mrs. Lowell Glaze, 620 West Fourth, who have just returned from a trip through the southern states.

They visited Memphis and Chattanooga, Tenn., Warm Springs, Ga., and Pensacola, Fla., and also stopped over with friends at Monroe, La., and Hot Springs, Ark.

They spent the weekend with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Glaze at Springfield, Mo., and Mrs. Glaze reported that the autumn colors in the Ozarks put that region far out in front of other scenic spots they visited.

SS Includes Domestics In Households

(This is one of a series of articles on old-age and survivors insurance under the Social Security Act. These articles were prepared by your social security office at 511 South Ohio, Sedalia, Mo.)

The protection of the Social Security Act has been extended, since January 1, 1951, to what are called "regularly employed domestics." This means that only those persons who are fairly steadily employed by the same household are covered by the Act.

Generally speaking, we can say that a domestic is covered if he or she works for one employer at least 24 days in a calendar quarter. For a domestic worker to be covered for work that she does in a private household, she must work for any one household at least some part of each of 24 days in a calendar quarter. Calendar quarters are 3-month periods starting January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1.

Besides working for the employer on at least 24 days in a calendar quarter, the domestic must be paid at least $50 in cash wages by the same employer. Only cash wages are counted. The value of meals, room, or clothing, cannot be added to the cash wages so that the employee may be covered; nor should they be reported by the employer.

If a domestic works for an employer 24 days in one calendar quarter, her work will be covered in the next quarter even if she works less than 24 days, if she is paid at least $50 in cash wages.

All domestic work in a private home may be covered; a cook, a maid, a chauffeur, a gardener, or a valet. Domestic work done on a farm operated for profit is covered, but only if it meets the provisions of the law covering regular farm workers. (These will be described in a later article.) Domestic employment in a hotel, or boarding house is usually covered no matter how much is paid in wages, nor how many days the employee works.

Domestic employees will need social security numbers, the same as other persons covered by the act. Numbers can be obtained at your social security office at 511 South Ohio, Sedalia, Mo.

The picture Roy referred to was an advance for post election use showing the Eisenhower family designated as the nation's "first family." It got into the paper by mistake of a composing room Democrat. That should help take the heat off Roy.

Roy's last paragraph ("If I should ever become a father again") offers a real challenge to me, the father of six daughters, five of whom are married. I should like to see you, Roy, to start off at this late date to have another family! I say, again, this is a real challenge. It would require a bit of domestic discussion and meditation. You know, Roy, there are six grandchildren, now. So you see the anomaly of having children younger than grandchildren.

I'm all for equipping them with "Democrat" sweaters. Roy, because I have not abandoned the teaching of my father, Col. Scruton, what has happened politically is that old time democrats have abandoned themselves to a new philosophy, The New Deal, and the Fair Deal, and really are not Democrats at all.

I don't for a moment believe that a rip - snortin' Democrat like my father was, would tolerate by silence or support the use of the Democratic label for what this country has been afflicted with the past decade.

Our sense of morality and ethics has become diseased because of the looseness of our purely political one - sided government. We talk about the necessity of a two-party system in order to retain our form of democracy. We are losing it because of public apathy and political greed, which fosters corruption. We need more a two-party system in the arm by a change of Fair Deal faces. We need a blood transfusion that like Eisenhower can give us.

A salesman was in the office this week. He is a Democrat. He spoke about cause of the amazing mental attitude of those youngsters toward morality and ethics today as compared with 25 years ago. He says:

"Sometimes I feel like a dope trying to teach these youngsters the moral philosophy of old - time religion. I can see in their eyes they're inwardly snickering at me as an old fogey."

So, if adults shrug their shoulders and take for granted open thievery, bribery, corruption and intolerance of communism in our government, and do not take the trouble to register a protest at the ballot box, what moral behavior can American parents expect from their children?

Of course, it might be explained, this New Deal - Fair Deal program has existed long enough to rear a generation of parents who just don't give a damn.

A Democrat class ad will do it!

Which brings us pretty close to Phone 1000.

Three Sedalia Girls Attend Texas College

Three girls from Sedalia are attending the 50th session of the Texas State College for Women at Denton.

They are: Missie Marie Elizabeth Fritz, Dixie Lou Gorrill and Marilyn Logan.

They entered in 1953. Texas University for Women this year looks optimistically to the future as it celebrates its Golden Anniversary with more than 800 classes especially designed for women.

Cancer Fatal To Mrs. Crosby

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Nov. 1 (AP) — Death from cancer came today to Mrs. Bing Crosby, the star who married an obscure singer 20 years ago and left the family's fame to him thereafter.

Dixie Lee Crosby lost her fight despite every available medical effort. The former musical comedy and film actress died at 10 a.m. in her home here. She would have been 41 Tuesday.

Mrs. Crosby had been in a coma since last Tuesday, and did not regain consciousness. At her bedside were Bing, her four sons and her father, E. E. Wyatt.

Last Monday, she became a Catholic. Her family said she had been planning for some time to join the church.

Bing's brother, Larry Crosby, said Mrs. Crosby suffered from "a generalized cancer condition which balked all attempts at alleviation," and added:

"Immediate members of the family refused to give up hope until the very end, and until every possibility had been explored. The family wishes to thank the many kind folks for their prayers and good wishes."

Armistice Day Parade Here Next Tuesday

Tuesday, Nov. 11, is Armistice Day, and a big parade will be held in the downtown section of Sedalia at 10 a. m. It will end at the Courthouse where the Rev. Walter P. Arnold, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, will give the address.

The parade will start at Ninth and Ohio and go north on Ohio to Main, east on Main to Lamine, south on Lamine to Fifth and west on Fifth to the Courthouse.

Ralph Baker, in charge of the Armistice Day program, announced that to date scheduled to be in the parade are the two high school bands, Smith-Cotton and Hubbard, the two American Legion Posts, the two Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts, the auxiliaries of both the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars in Sedalia, several American Legion Posts from over the county, the Cooties and Lady Bugs, the American War Dads, the National Guard, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, saddle clubs from Sedalia, Kirksville, Cameron, Buncheon and Ottaville, the automobile dealers and the implement dealers.

Other organizations and saddle clubs may also participate, but have not yet informed Mr. Baker of their plans.

The Courthouse, City Hall and banks will all close for the day. The retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce announces that firms may do as they like in closing. If they want to close they may and if they don't they may remain open. However, all firms are asked to cooperate and let any veterans or officers off who want to take part in the parade. They also ask each firm to have at least one member of their organization at the Armistice Day program at the Courthouse.

SAFB Housing Address Here Monday Noon

On Monday noon, Robert H. Richards, assistant secretary of the air force, in charge of family housing at the Pentagon, Washington, D. C., will be the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, which will be held jointly with the Rotary Club in the Ambassador Room of the Bothwell Hotel.

The meeting is open to anyone interested in housing problems of this area, and business men, those in the building trade of the community and all civic club members are asked to be present to hear Mr. Richards.

Mr. Richards will have with him Col. McCord, chief of the family housing group at the Pentagon. Mayors, Chamber of Commerce officers, city officials and others from surrounding towns are invited by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce to attend.

Windsor Jct. Fire Burns On 130 Acres

A grass fire that threatened several homes, barns and other buildings on farms at Windsor Junction, south of Sedalia where Highways 65 and 52 intersect, was fought Wednesday afternoon by an estimated 250 to 300 persons.

Some of them reportedly came from distances of up to 10 miles. The fire was believed to have started from a carelessly thrown cigarette about 12:30 p. m.

The blaze, fanned by wind, covered an area of 130 acres or more, sweeping eastward carrying devastation in its path. It burned posts of fences and even consumed a stretch of green hedge fence that failed to withstand the fire and intense heat it produced.

Several buildings in the path of the blaze were saved through foresight of an obliging farmer who rushed to the scene with tractor and plow and plowed furrows helped check its ravages.

Another appeared with a tractor and trailer with two barrels of water and a spray pump which was brought into action at spots where the flames were most threatening.

The fire by mid-afternoon had been extinguished and was fully smothered by 4 p. m.

Speaker at C. of C. Banquet Spurs Sedalians To Join Hands For Greater Things In City

A talk that was an inspiration to men and women of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce to do greater things was given Wednesday night at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet by Dwight Havens, commercial organization department manager of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Washington, D. C.

"This is America," said Mr. Havens, "Sedalia, USA, your own home town and all of the other home towns in America." The Chamber of Commerce, he said, seeks to improve and to build, and this is the source of strength in America. It is the power of leadership that has brought the growth of this country from the time of the landing of the Pilgrims to the strength, the freedom and the high standard of living we have today, he told his audience. It is the highest standard of living in the world.

Our stock in trade, Mr. Havens said, is our people. Knowledge and understanding is what constitutes the American way and it is developing the right kind of leadership that brings success. The United States Chamber of Commerce, he pointed out, can be no stronger than the Chamber of Commerce of this town.

First, he said, there must be an honest, fearless study of the real needs of the community and, second, the channeling of all resources to achieve that need.

Success, he said, is to know where you are going and you must know what your needs are. Once you find the common problems you will find men and women of your town are anxious to match wits on those problems. People want to be a part of the show, he said. The way to get the job done is to join hands and do it.

Mr. Havens spoke of the divine leadership and said he wished that he were a leader like that. Leadership is power of strength, the power with which things are accomplished, he said.

He praised the work of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, the president, Jack Cunningham, the executive manager, Chester A. Brown and the membership as a whole in their accomplishments of the past year.

Urging the 475 people present to get in and work for their home town, Mr. Havens concluded his talk with "What you do for yourselves dies with you. What you do for your community lives forever."

The banquet, which was held at the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria, was preceded by dinner music by Mrs. Ann Marquess, Miss Shirley Kirkpatrick and Charles Walsh.

The meeting opened with the singing of "America" followed by invocation by the Rev. A. J. Brunswick, pastor of Sacred Heart Church.

Jack Cunningham, retiring president, presided and introduced Ellsworth Green Jr., Kansas City, Kan.; W. M. Huston, president of the Marshall Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Huston, T. A. Reid, manager of the Marshall Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Reid; Earl E. Uhler Jr., president of the Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Uhler, and James S. Whitfield, executive manager of the Warrensburg Chamber of Commerce and Miss Virginia Raker.

Others introduced by Mr. Cunningham were Mayor and Mrs. Hub E. Sander, Judge and Mrs. J. V. Kesterson, Jim Green, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Green; retiring members of the Chamber of Commerce board and their wives; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brunkhorst; Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Coplen, Mr. and Mrs. Judd Grayston, Damon Hieronymus and Miss Virginia Flower, Mr. and Mrs. George Bouszong, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Haller, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Naugel and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Brown.

Mr. Cunningham then introduced George H. Trader, president of the Sedalia Democrat-Capital and Mrs. Trader, vice president; Geo. H. Scruton, managing editor and Mrs. Scruton, editor, news editor and Mrs. McIntire, news editor; and Mrs. McIntire, news editor; Miss Hazel Lang, the reporter who handles C. of C. news and publicity for the Democrat; Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Hudson of the Sedalia.

The tables were attractive with arrangements of gold and bronze chrysanthemums. The arrangement of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Green; retiring members of the Chamber of Commerce board and their wives; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brunkhorst; Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Coplen, Mr. and Mrs. Judd Grayston, Damon Hieronymus and Miss Virginia Flower, Mr. and Mrs. George Bouszong, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Haller, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Naugel and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Brown.

At the tables were programs made by the office staff on the front of which was the slogan "Teamwork Makes Progress." The program contained the financial statement of the Chamber of Commerce which shows a balance of $2,989.81, the message of the retiring president, Jack Cunningham and the work that has been accomplished during the year by the various committees.

The banquet and ticket sales was under the direction of Ray Lippard.

Interpreting The News

Few things so attest America's position of leadership in world affairs as foreign interest in the recent campaign and election.

Reaction has been about what you would expect, a cautious watchfulness over a change from an administration which has been very internationally-minded to a party which many foreigners believe contains an isolationist faction.

First fearful reaction in European, however, began to abate somewhat when returns in the close House and Senate races indicated Eisenhower's personal popularity had been a prime factor, rather than any ideological shift to conservatism.

Perhaps the most enthusiastic welcome for Eisenhower came from the Arab world, long at odds with the Truman administration because of its support of Israel and the colonial interests of Britain and France.

To the Arabs, any change was for the better. There was the danger in that quarter that they would expect too much from Eisenhower—from a Korean truce to settlement of such quarrels as Kashmir, Tunisia, Morocco and Iran—and thus be subject to an unhappy reaction later.

Western Europe, in addition to its fear of isolationist influence in the Republican party, also feared it might suffer from a partial shift of American official interest from Europe to the Orient. They were well aware that the coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats in Congress would continue their insistence on more attention to Far Eastern policy and revision of aid to Europe.

They were reassured somewhat, however, by Eisenhower's long interest in European affairs, and by the post-election assurance from John Foster Dulles, a prospective secretary of state, that friendly nations had nothing to fear.

Europe's worries had not been based entirely on political or economic grounds. Ever since Eisenhower's American Legion speech, advocating greater efforts to liberate Russia's European satellites, they had been nervous over possible rash moves by the U. S. which might heighten tension with Russia. The word which got out in this country, that the speech-writers had given a poorly-worded expression of the Dulles-Eisenhower view, did not penetrate to Europe against the flood of Truman-Democratic reaction.

In fact, the whole campaign, with speakers grabbing every little twist of words for political capital, served to spread confusion about what the world could expect from either Eisenhower or Stevenson.

Only when the new administration gets down to work, and Congress has expressed itself on the first appropriation bills, will the uncertainty be resolved.

BRONZE STAR PRESENTED HERE—Former Sergeant Harold W. Bell, right, is congratulated by Lt. Col. Robert B. Holt, 35th Infantry Division instructor, after he later presented Bell with the Bronze Star at the Armory Wednesday. Bell received the award for heroic action near Hondon-ni, Korea, in October 1951.

The Bronze Star with a letter "V" was presented Wednesday to former Army Sergeant Harold W. Bell, 1409 West 11th, for heroic achievement in Korea last year. The award was presented by Lt. Col. Robert B. Holt, 35th Infantry Division instructor, at a formation of Battery C, 128th Field Artillery Battalion, Missouri National Guard, at the Armory.

Bell, then a corporal, was serving with Company E, 31st Infantry Regiment, 7th Infantry Division, near Hondon-ni when the incident occurred on Oct. 1 and 2, 1951, for which he was decorated.

According to the citation, Bell was with a platoon located about 1000 yards in front of the battalion line. At dusk, a forward observer and a radio operator were sent to a forward outpost 650 yards ahead. Bell and another rifleman volunteered to accompany them to provide covering fire and protection.

On their way to the outpost, they were subjected to a sudden volley of enemy fire. Rushing for cover, Bell began returning the fire. Accurate mortar fire, directed by the forward observer, forced the enemy to withdraw.

Although a platoon of reinforcements soon arrived, Bell refused to leave and continued through the night to provide protection to the forward outpost. The citation stated he was primarily responsible for the security of the outpost and its defense against the continued probing attacks of the enemy.

Bell was inducted into the army on Nov. 8, 1950 and was separated last August.
